L.A. lives in the vitality of sunshine

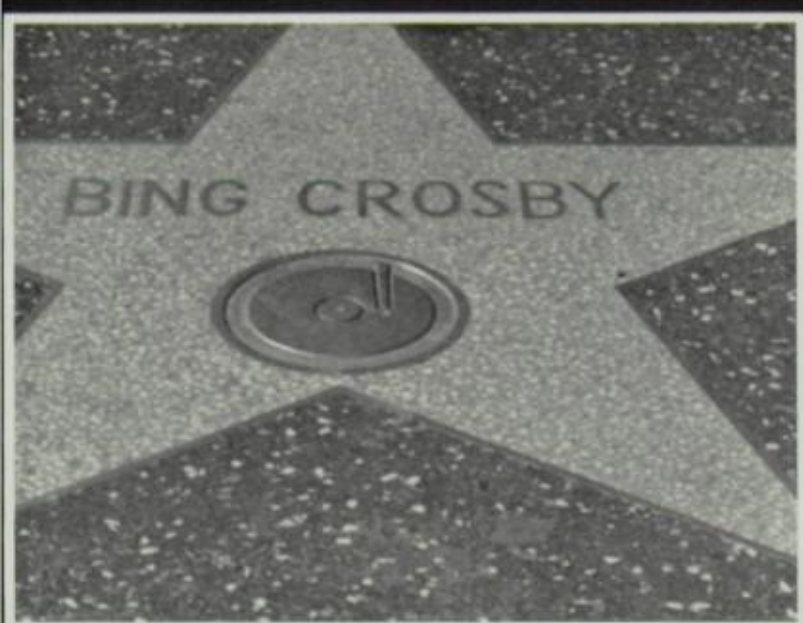

Its dreams as diverse as its people

Some seek fame, others success,

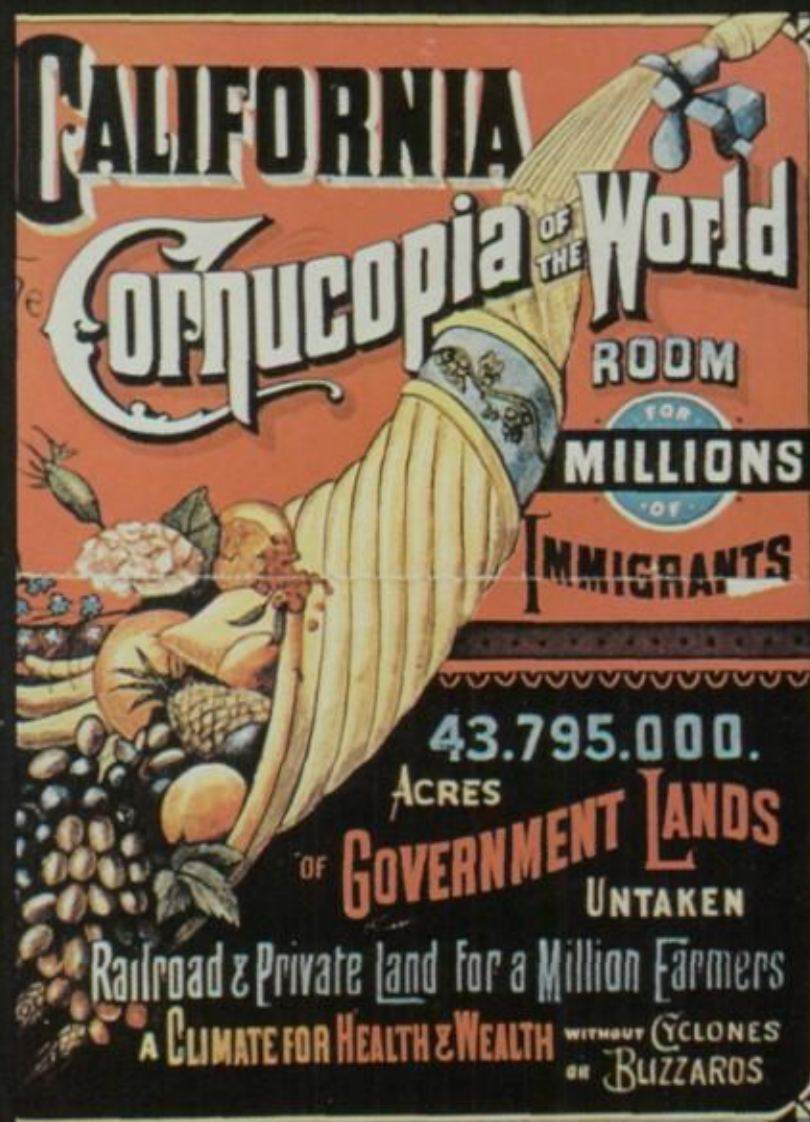

and still others

Simply a place in the sun

All share
one vision

A dream
of what life
could be

Loyola stands

a mirror
of its city

Its gifts

as diverse as its students

Some seek knowledge, others victory,

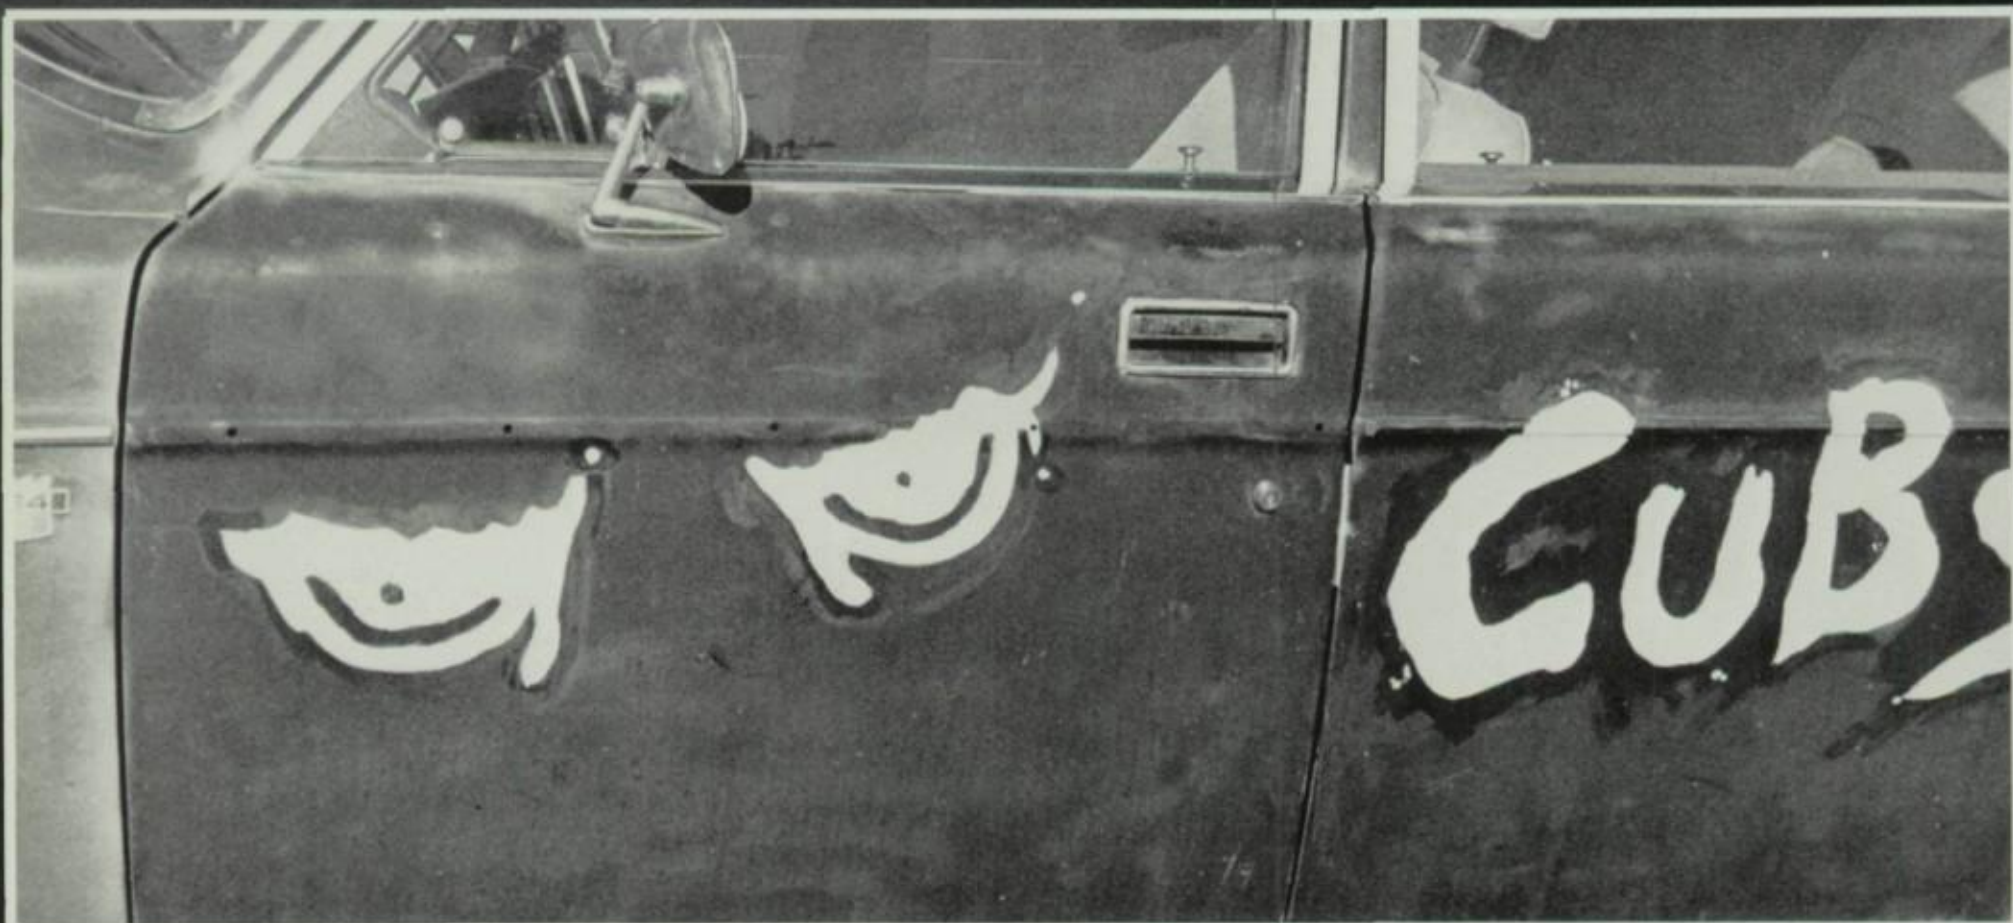

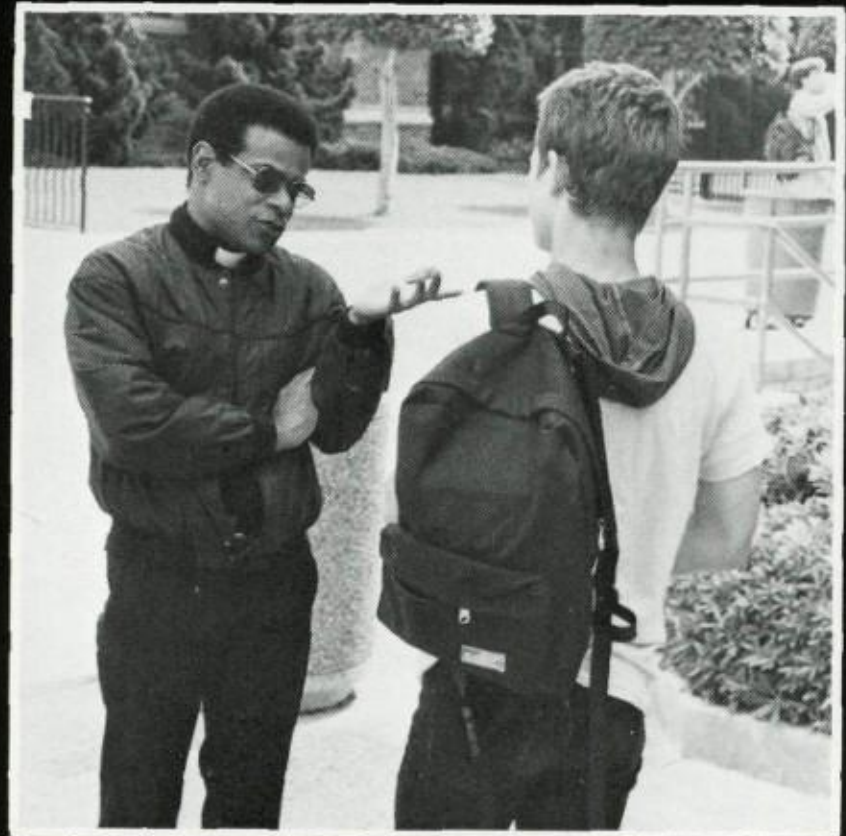

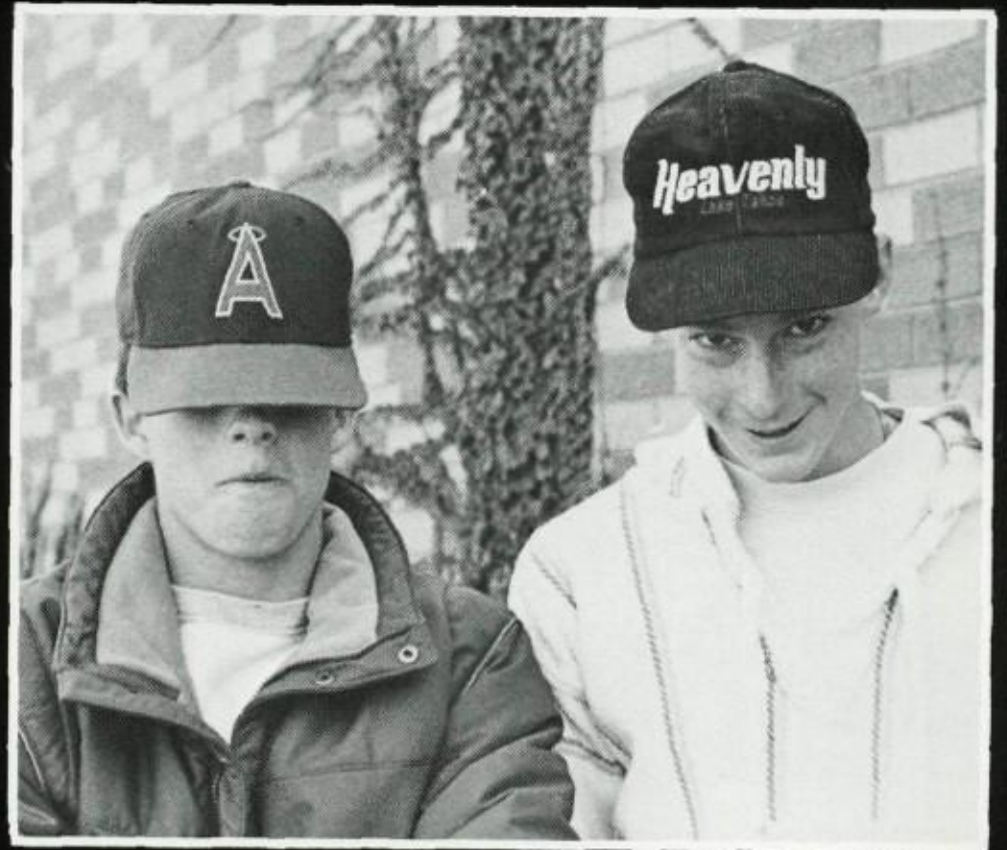

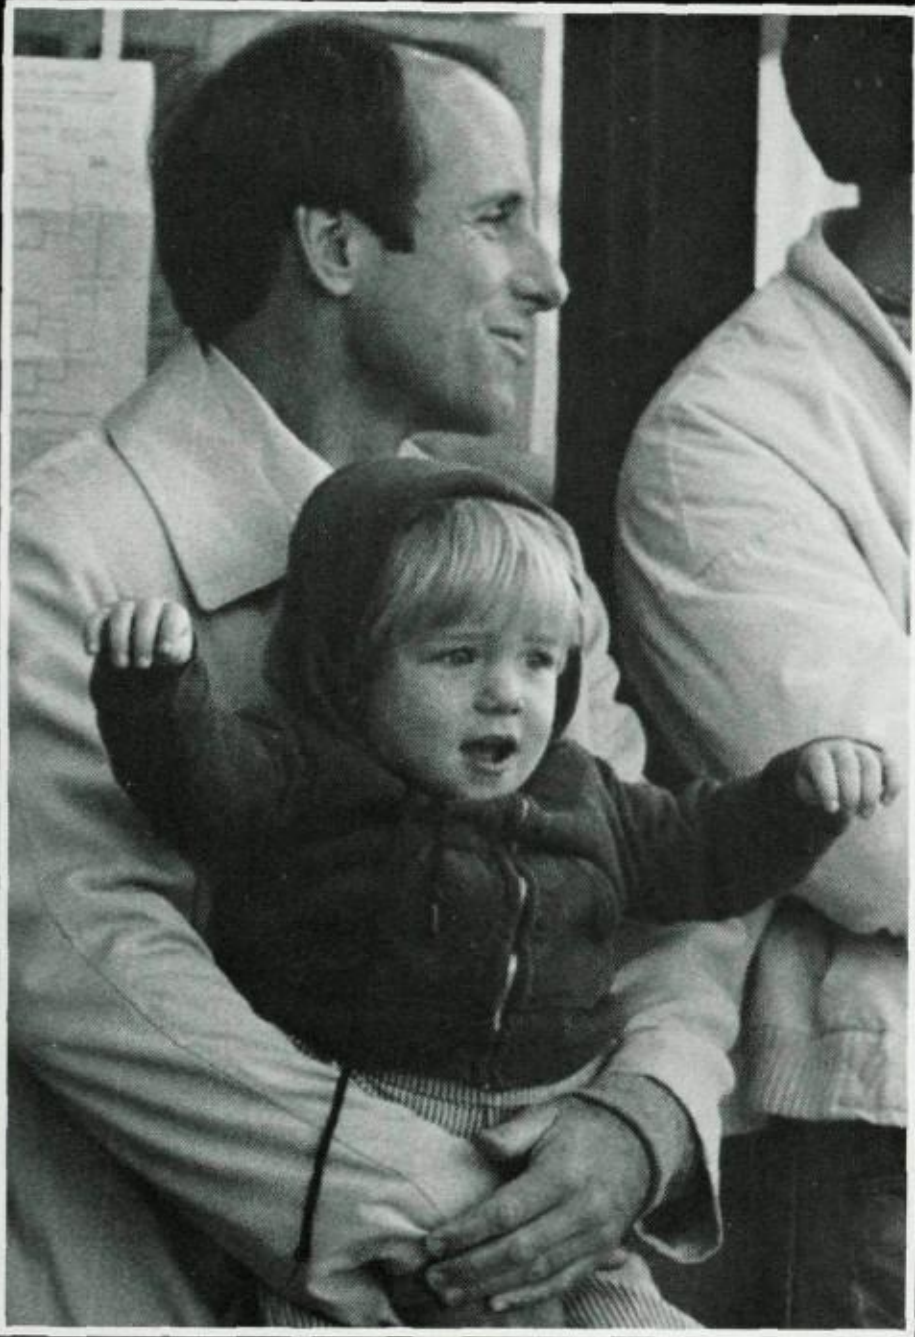

and still others

Simply a place to grow

All share
one vision

A dream
of what life
can be

For seventeen years, with remarkable vision, dedication and generosity Fr. Patrick Cahalan, S.J. has continually striven to provide Loyola students with an ideal Jesuit education.

In partial recognition for his efforts on our behalf we proudly dedicate the 1986 Volume of the El Camino to him.

The 1985 season began with great expectations, and the '85 Cub gridders did not disappoint. This year's team was far from being the biggest team in the league. However, what the Cubs lacked in size, they more than made up for in hard work. The offense, led by seniors Steve Carroll, Todd Martin, Matt Pascale, Pat Muldoon, Tom Kelley, Dan O'Neil, and Mark Estwick, baffled defenses all year long. The defense, anchored by seniors Bernard Brown, Justin Gmelich, Tim Stoutt, Matt Girardi, Travis Foss, Pat McCarty, Pierre Bourgeix, Pat Doud, and Steve Balsarini, consistently stopped opposing offenses. After a shocking loss to St. Paul, the Cubs went on a seven game winning streak including impressive wins over Santa Monica, St. John Bosco, St. Francis, and culminated with an impressive win over Notre Dame to clinch the 1985 Del Rey League championship. In CIF playoff action, the Cubs lost a hard fought battle to a powerful Fontana team, finishing their season with an 8-3 record. The 1985 season was a very rewarding experience for all people involved. Thank you for your support.

Coming off a tremendous summer, which was highlighted by a 9th place finish in the prestigious Punahua Invitational Water Polo Tournament, the Cubs went on to be part of history at Loyola High School. Under the leadership of 2nd year head coach Ed Profumo, the Cubs captured a second straight Del Rey League title. The Cubs swam through their Del Rey League opponents, earning a 10-0 record which qualified them for a 5th straight CIF bid. This was the first time in Loyola's history that such a record was achieved in Water Polo. This record did not come easy; the Cubs had to beat each Del Rey League opponent twice. The games with long time rival St. John Bosco proved to be the most difficult. The Cubs met the Bosco Braves once at home and once away adding two more ticks in the win column by defeating the Braves 12-10 and 6-5 respectively. At the end of league action, the Cubs geared up for CIF action. The Cubs advanced to the third round of CIF, another historic event for Loyola High Water Polo. The Cubs achieved this mark by defeating Redondo 11-7 in the first round, and Muir 9-8 in the second round. Then, in the third round, the Cubs met top-ranked El Dorado. The final outcome proved to be a repeat of last years game; the Cubs lost 6-12. Although this was a crushing defeat, it rewrote the Loyola High School Water Polo history books.

For the second straight year, the entire starting team received league honors. Seniors Matt Holscher, Tim O'Donnell, Ed Prado and Andrew Sutton received 1st team league selections. Matt Holscher also received league MVP and a 2nd team CIF selection while Ed Prado and Tim O'Donnell received a CIF honorable mention. Other honors included Second team league selections, Nick Wooler, Ed Detels and Joe Rasic while junior David O'Keefe received league honorable mention. Outstanding play was also recorded by Seniors Chris Regan and Michael Braun.

On a final note the Water Polo team would like to thank all the students and faculty who came out and supported us throughout our season. Aloha!

Intimidation. Even before their season had begun, all of the Del Rey League and potential C.I.F. contenders feared the day they would encounter, head to head and one on one, the awesome Cubs "TOP 5": Mike McCracken, Joe Brink, Mitch Sloan, Chris Nelson, and Kevin Dee. Led by coaches Jack Gallagher (head) and Ed Castellanos, the Loyola High School Cross-Country team continued its dominance of all by winning its third consecutive Del Rey League and second consecutive Division 2A C.I.F. Championship. On top of this, the Cubs were extremely successful elsewhere, winning the Bell-Jeff and Laguna Hills Invitational, while earning a Fifth Place ranking in all of California after competing in the prestigious Stanford Invitational some five hours away from Cub territory. Loyola continued its dominance at the Junior Varsity level by winning League Championship, and championships at the Stanford, Bell Jeff, and Mt. Sac Invitational. The Frosh Soph also had a successful year finishing second in league and winning the Bell Jeff Invitational.

Individually, the Cubs were led by captain Mike McCracken (All-C.I.F., First Team All League), Joe Brink (All-C.I.F., All-County, First Team All League), Mitch Sloan (First Team All League) along with Kevin Dee (First Team All-League), Auggie Dougherty (First Team All-League), and Chris Nelson (Second Team All-League). Skardon Baker (Second Team All-League), a Sophomore, will lead the Cubs in the 1986-87 season. Along with these six seniors, Wayne Nitti, Jake Henry, Perry Germain, Charlie Carter, Mark Nemec, Todd Robinson, and Luigi Gratton solidified the varsity and made up the awe-inspiring Junior Varsity. The Frosh Soph was led by Christain Fogliani, Peter Hogan, Casey Higer, Angus McDonald, and Jeff Deacon.

All in all, 1985 was a successful year for a highly outstanding program.

ACTIVITIES

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

The purpose of Loyola's chapter of Amnesty International is to inform our student body of the rights violations committed around the world. Our chapter is part of a world-wide chain which is determined to free non-violent prisoners of conscience through the petitioning of governments and individuals. This year Loyola's Amnesty has sponsored assemblies at which there were guest speakers, and drawn up petitions which the student body eagerly consented to sign.

Members were: F. Ayala, B. Birney, G. Dennehy, S. Duffy, P. Estuar, V. Fernandez, R. Garcia, J. Gonzalez, A. Guzman, E. Hamilton, R. Harmala, B. Hendersen, G. Jahiel, S. Karlin, G. Olivos, J.C. Olsen, J. Sackett, R. Soriano, T. Swope, E. Teveris, A. Walker, moderator Fr. Leidich, S.J.

SPEECH AND DEBATE

Loyola's Speech and Debate Club is one of our fastest growing clubs. This year there was a record number of members and this has shown through the improvement of the team. The team competes in tournaments on a weekly basis in, for example, expository, impromptu, and novice speaking. Under the leadership of Mr. John Auther, S.J. this year's Speech and Debate team has proved to be a success.

Members were: S. Baker, J. Beauclair, C. Bowman, M. Braun, R. Brown, T. Brown, S. Calde, F. Chung, D. Cooper, S. Dalla Betta, S. Davie, M. Evans, B. Fournier, E. Hamilton, W. Hawkins, J. Hilger, A. AND CLUBS

1985-1986 STUDENT COUNCIL

Not too many years ago Loyola had no student government at all. The present group of officers take their responsibilities very seriously and provide an articulate voice for the concerns of the student body in addition to encouraging maximum participation in student activities.

1985-1986 PEP SQUAD

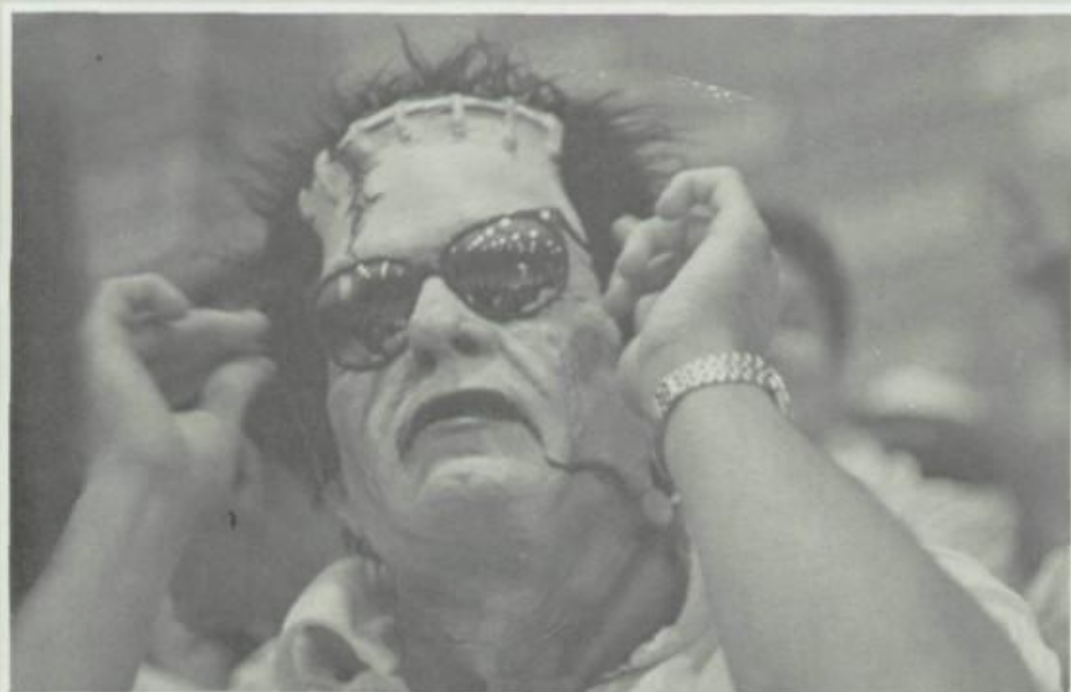

Squad members were: (l. to r.) Nikki Streip, Lii Perry, Blake Morandi, Bryan Gayer, Judy Solano, Dan Wilson, Armand Diaz, Carol Freden, Marisa Nuccio, Marle Majcher.

The Loyola Pep Squad was very successful this year. Composed of seven talented cheerleaders and three yell leaders, the squad won numerous awards at cheerleading competitions. Crowds could always look forward to the halftime show where they performed, and they were always well received. The squad puts in many hours of hard work to perfect their routines with exact synchronization and finesse. The spirit generated by the squad is a tribute to their accomplishments throughout the year. Thanks to Miss Jo Williams for her support and guidance and to all the girls for their time and effort.

RALLIES

The Pep Rallies of the 1985-1986 school year defined the world "spirit". Under the leadership of activities coordinator, Colin Lynch, the rallies of this year proved to be successful with new technological innovations, slide shows, awesome routines by the Pep Squad, comical skits, musical performances by J.P. & friends, and the teacher's and coaches' contests. Special thanks goes to all the students who helped out in organizing and working behind the scenes to make this year's rallies some of the best ever.

DANCE COMMITTEE

The Dance Committee is the club at Loyola which plans and organizes dances and concerts throughout the year. This year dances have proved to be successful mainly due to major labels and upcoming bands playing on our stage. These bands have included Fishbone, Meat Puppets, The Rave-Ups, and The Three O'Clock.

Members were: Steve Balsarini, Bill Birney, Vince Delorca, St. Ignatius, Brendan Lynch, Colin Lynch, Quinn O'Donnell, Matt Pascale, Greg Rice, Jeff Whittet, Dan Wilson.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Varsity Basketball: (First Row) (Mg.) V. Moore, A. Lynch, T. Bacon, B. Almeda, J. Murpity, F. Hafner, (Second Row) Mr. Samaniego, E. Tolliver, D. Smith, D. Fischer, M. Tilson, M. Bocen, S. Keller, T. Abaunzo, M. Caveness, M. Pinza, B. Thomason.

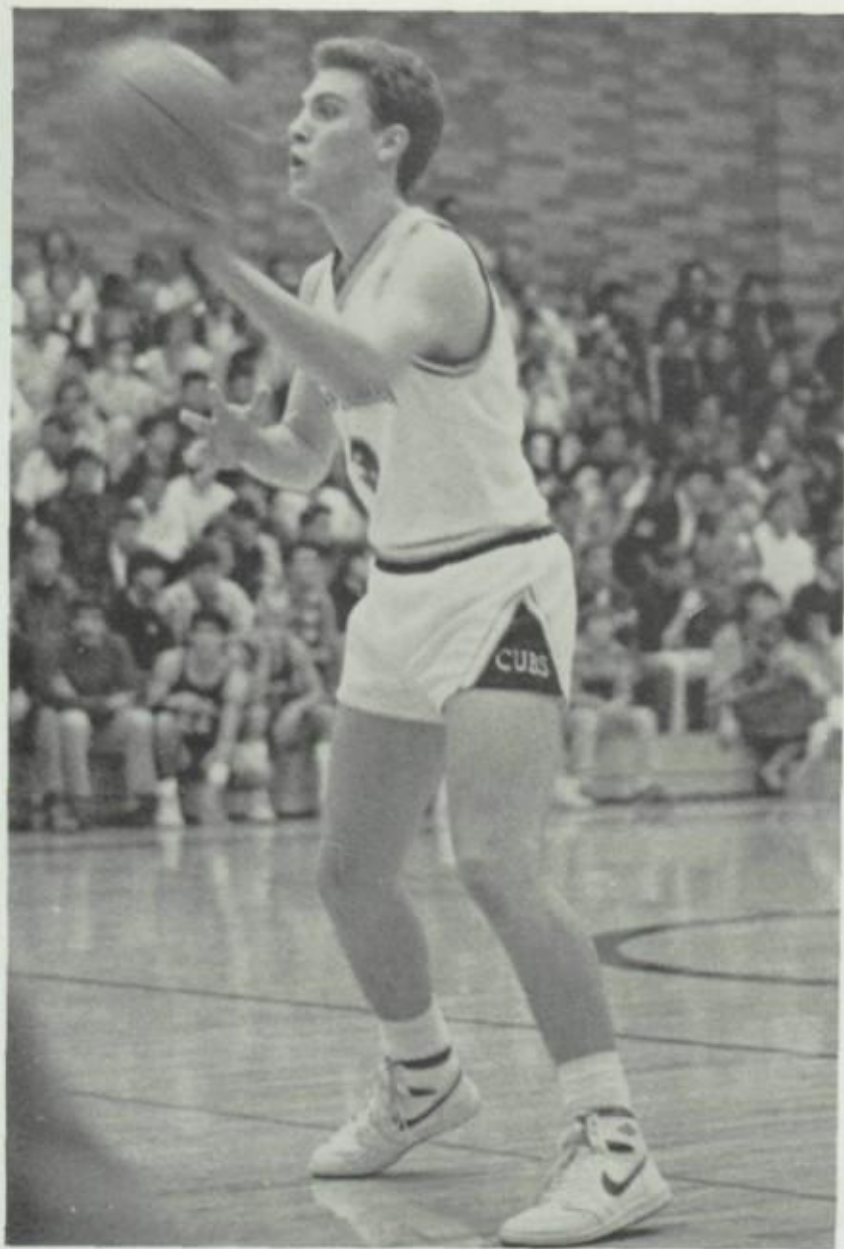

In the past, basketball at Loyola was not too popular, but that all changed this year. Head coach Bill Thomason, and assistant coach Ed Samaniego, S.J., scratched the old offense, and installed a new and exciting fast-break, "run and gun", type offense, which would better serve the talent on the team. Led by Mark Tilson (co-captain and 1st Team Del Rey League Selection), Mark Caveness and Mike Boken (both co-captains and 2nd Team Del Rey League Selections) the Cubs enjoyed one of the most successful seasons in recent history. After months of grueling practices, and a retreat that unified the team even more, they were ready for the quest.

The preseason, which included three tournaments, proved to be a learning experience for all, a preparation period for league play, and also a time to implement new plays and strategies. During the preseason, the Cubs defeated Centennial, Leuzinger and our own basketball Alumni to finish with a promising 5-6 record. The Cubs dedicated themselves to making the playoffs, and winning the league. Like many other seasons, it had its share of exciting wins, and heart-felt loses. Some of these included the come from behind victories over St. Francis at home and away, the thrilling last second shot to defeat St. John Bosco away, and the total domination of both Notre Dame and Bosco Tech. Unlike many other seasons in the past, the Cubs had a winning record. In fact, their 7-5 league record was good enough to earn them 2nd place in the Del Rey League, and more importantly a playoff birth. In the playoffs, the first showing of Loyola basketball in three years, the Cubs travelled to Downey to play Pius X. This journey proved to be too far, as the Cubs were downed 105-90, in front of an incredibly packed gym. The fans at the game were not only treated to a very high scoring game, but also to the dedication and drive that the team exhibited throughout the entire season.

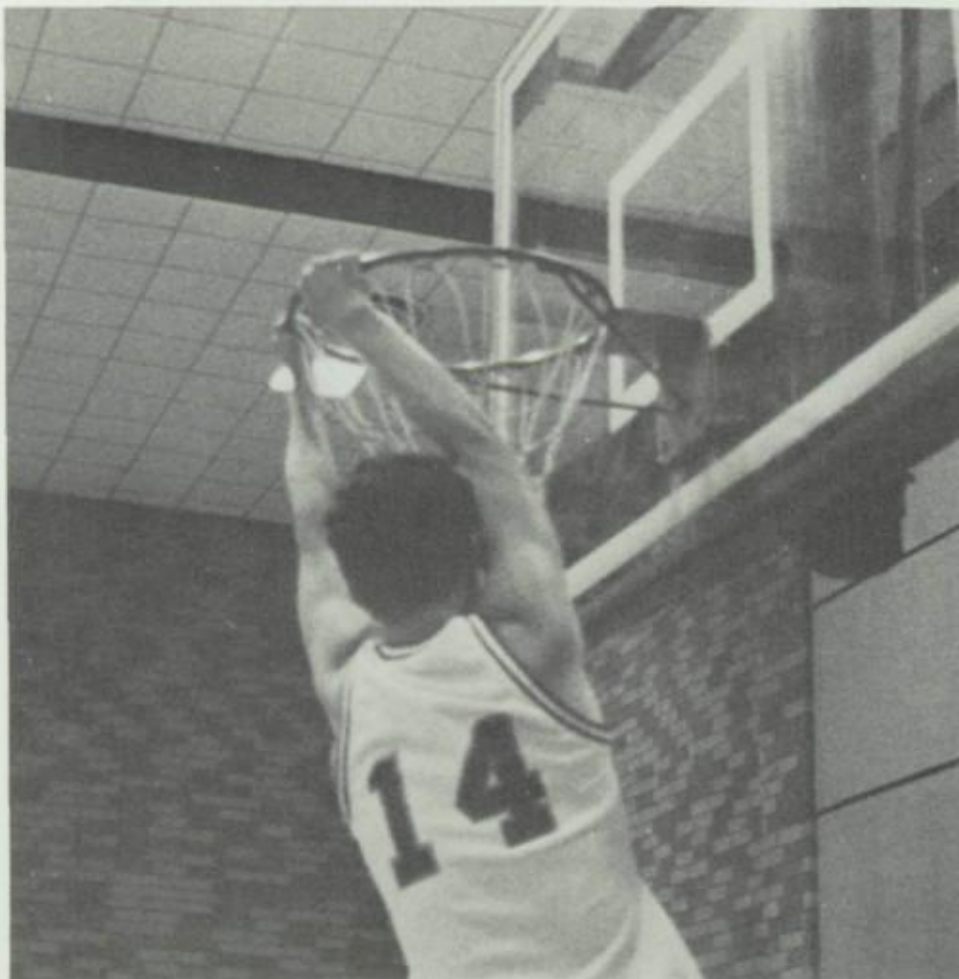

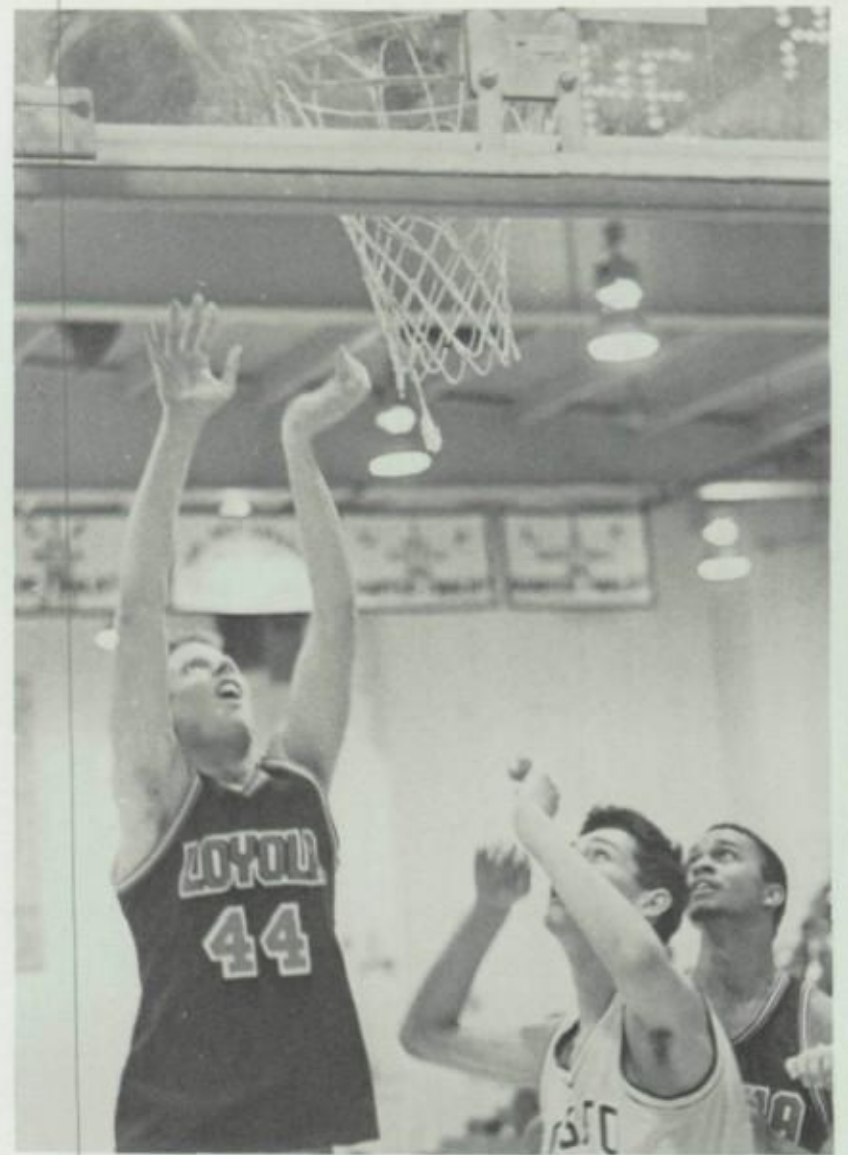

On behalf of the coaches, players, and managers, I would like to thank our families, the cheerleaders, our friends, and the faculty for their support throughout the entire year.

Despite numerous injuries, including that of the league's best goalkeeper, Judd Bogust, halfback Greg Golden, the arrival of a new coaching staff, and few returning players, the Cubs managed to finish third in the Del Rey League. First Team All League selection Hector Villagra and Second Team All Leaguers Quinn O'Donnell and Mike Maloney anchored the strong Cub defense. First Team Select James Roughan and Honorable Mention Select Greg Moore controlled the midfield. The offense, which came alive late in the season, was provided by Blaise Diroll, Darren Kleiman, Brendan Lynch, and Wayne Castillo. In a year in which the Cubs started three different goalies throughout the season, started four sophomores, and returned only two varsity starters, the Cubs proved the value of pride and hard work. Much experience was gained this year by some young players and next year's team should prove the class of the league. The team would like to thank coaches Fr. Stiegeler and Mike "Droopy" Gaumer, team physician Fr. Gatto, playground supervisors Mr. Auther and Mr. O'Neill, and all the fans who supported this successful season.

They are ably assisted through the efforts of parents, alumni, friends, students and faculty who generously contribute time, energy and resources.

WindowPanes

Through my bedroom window
The light begins to shine
I watch it as it warms
The room in which I hide
The sun is cast upon me
As I get up from bed
I think of all the waste
The words I've left unsaid
I know there must be more
Than the things here at my side
The window, though, has showed me
The things I keep inside
I shall once again have feeling
My mind shall not be numb
Go out beyond the window
Things that must be done
Yet without the light is darkness
The light that makes me dance
And without my bedroom window
The light would have no chance

Creative Comments

Take a moment and think, allow the mind free reign to develop a concept and idea — anything. These are the moments Windowpanes and Eclipse endeavored to encourage and nurture this year — a break from structured classes, assignments and everyday, systematic lifestyles.

Eclipse presented stories, poems and artwork from what could be perceived as the dark side of the imagination. Windowpanes, like its name, provided a view of both the mind of the writer and the world they wanted to portray. The editors sincerely express their gratitude to those whose submissions made it all possible.

The 1986 Cubs are looking to be as strong as the track and field teams of recent years, which have bagged several league titles and a CIF championship. The team's goal this year is to use a Del Rey League win as a stepping stone to a possible CIF title, and send a squad representing Loyola to the state finals. With such a talented array of athletes, all of this is within the team's grasp. Returning to lead the sprinters under coach Jon Dawson will be veteran Mark Estwick. Eddie McElroy, Mike Seley, and Pat Orr will provide a strong triple threat in the hurdles under coach Al Sanford. Dominating the middle distance, coached by Glen Harvey, and the long distance, coached by Jack Gallagher, will be Mike McCracken, Joe Brink, Wayne Nitti, and Mitch Sloan. All four were members of the 1985 CIF championship team. High jumper Mark Tilson, coached by Victor Sisnett, long and triple jumpers Rob Culty and Jon Scott, coached by Victor Harewood, shot putters Andy Rogers and Ron Higgins, and pole vaulters Andy Knickerson and Nick Gentry, under coach Fernando Hernandez, will ensure the Cubs of many final victories. The dedication of the very fine coaching staff and athletes will give Loyola another team to be proud of.

VARSITY SWIMMING

The 1986 Loyola swim team is not as dominant as Loyola's past swim teams, but it has enough experienced swimmers to clinch a fourth consecutive Del Rey League title. This year's team will be lead by All-Americans Mike Fitzpatrick, John Hsu, and Bob Childs. The team's success will also be resting upon seniors Merrick Walters, Nick Wooler, Ed Prado, and junior Dave O'Keefe. Last year's squad lost the CIF 3A championships by a mere two and one half points. Coach Tim Coughlin believes that Loyola could be the dark horse in this year's CIF race and could avenge last year's loss.

FROSH-SOPH SWIMMING

(first row) D. Noble, J. Nichols, J. Smith, M. Romano, D. Li, C. Hunt, D. Madison, L. Utterback
(2nd) M. Ingrham, T. Duggan, R. Fraley, D. Stone, J. Kearns, S. Majcher, J. Moran, W. Davis, J. Hilger (3rd) P. Yutan, B. O'Meara, B. Hoegel, J. Byrne, D. Hu, C. O'Donnell, C. Francis, D. Gocke, B. Curran, and Coach Thomas "Trigger" Gallagher

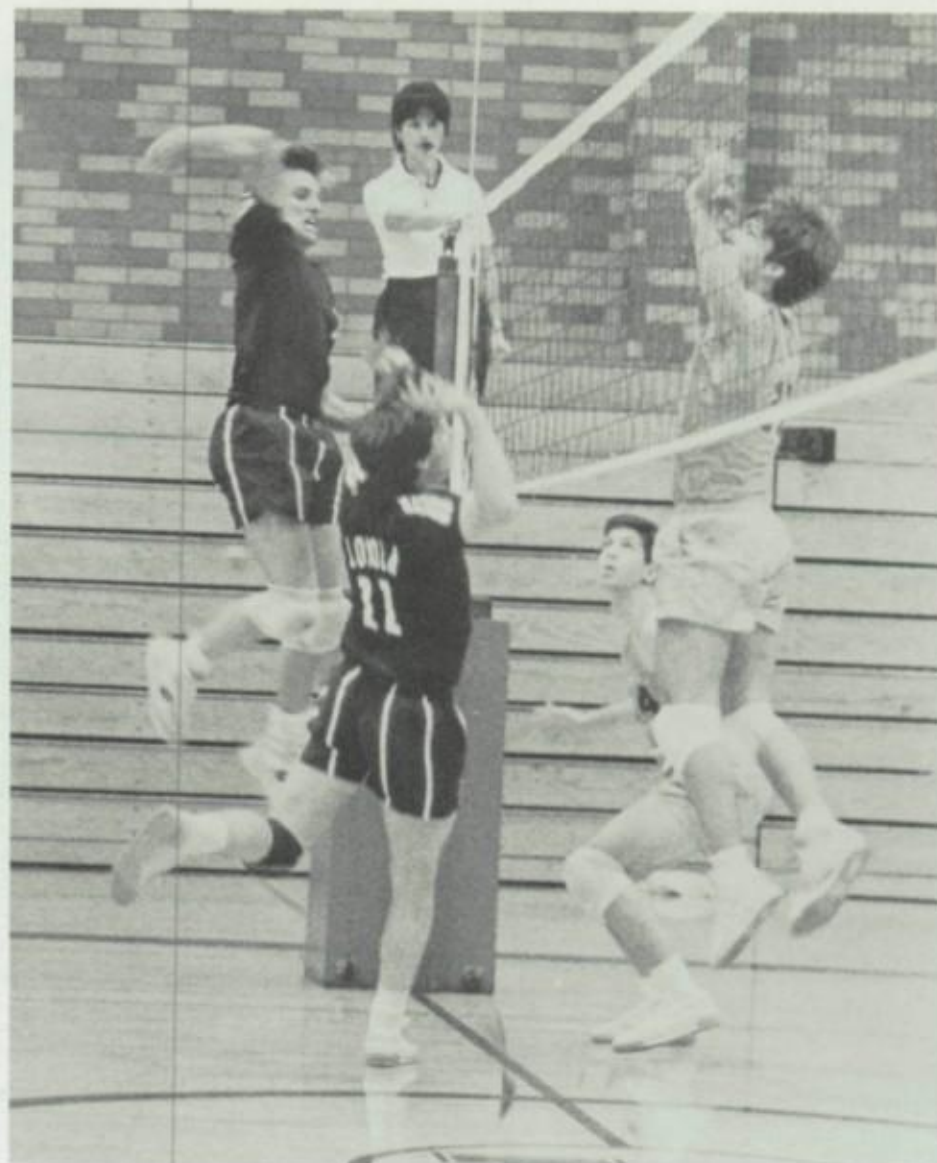

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

Last year was one of Loyola's most successful volleyball seasons ever. This year the Cubs hope to defend the 3A CIF title. Rick McGloughlin and Parker Blackman undertake the setting chores and will give the Cubs one of the finest setting tandems in Southern California. Outside hitting will be led by 1st team all-CIF player Tom Parr and senior Mike Griswold. Senior Todd Murray and junior Dylan Clark will be middle blocking for the Cubs. What these two lack in size, they more than make up for with speed, hustle, and jumping ability. Loyola's talent does not, however, end with its starting lineup. Senior Cameron Losey and juniors Kevin Martin, Ted Slattery, and Scott McMillan will all definitely be major contributors to the Cubs' success this season. Also coming off the bench to aid the Cubs will be seniors Mike McGovern, Nathan Hunter, Pete Corbell, Tim Plymale, and junior Josh Loef. With this kind of potential, the Cubs can definitely control their own destiny. A successful season and a defense of their CIF title seems well within reach.

This season could prove to be one of the most successful in recent history. Mr. Kelly Nicholson takes over this season as manager. He will be flanked by Coach Geoff Joy. The team will be lead this year by a strong pitching staff with seniors Louis Skertich and Tim O'Donnell in the starting rotation and senior Kevin Mullen and Junior Joe Rodarte coming in from the bullpen. When not on the mound, Mullen will serve as the first baseman, with junior Chris Petrovic filling in when needed. The rest of the infield consists of senior Robert Chavez and junior Sean Jones at second base, Ryan Reid at third, and plugging up the hole at shortstop will be senior Robert Hensley. In the outfield, there will be newcomer Chris Rising in left, senior Todd Miccio and senior David Flores in centerfield, and juniors Tim Sullivan and Richard Egan in right. John Winnek will do the catching this year and provide steady defense behind the plate, and senior Tim Byrne will provide steady offensive power as the team's designated hitter. With talent such as this, the Cubs hope to capture the Del Rey League crown and challenge for a C.I.F. title.

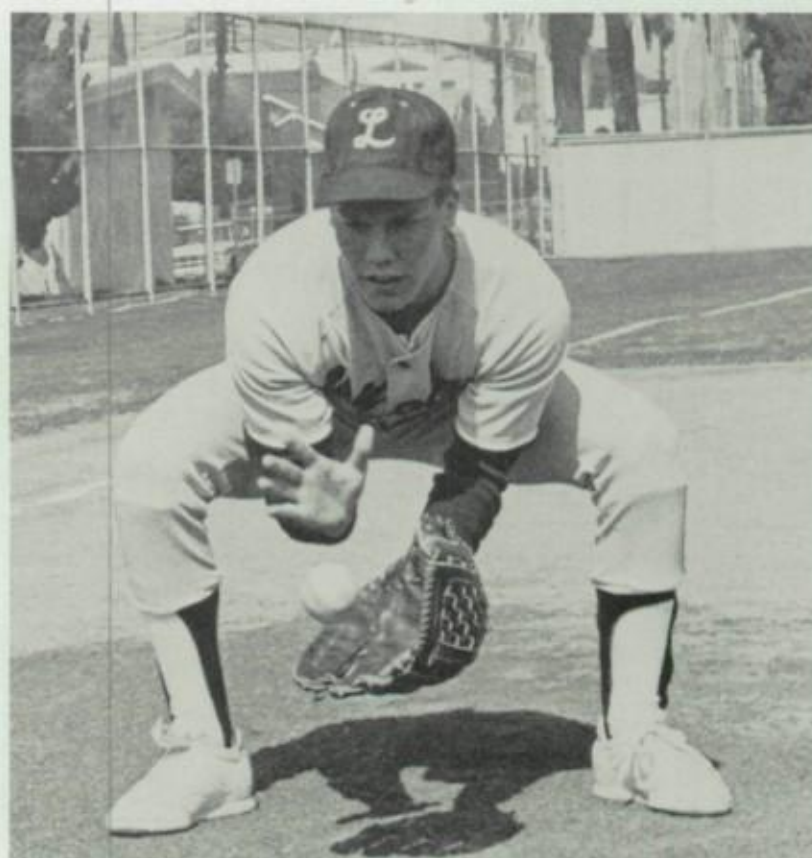

Tim O'Donnell

JUNIOR VARSITY BASEBALL

Coming off a string of successful seasons, this year's Cub tennis team has an excellent chance of capturing both the Del Rey League championship and the CIF crown. Led by lone senior standout Eric Rottman and junior Frank Yu, this young team has only to gain in experience before becoming uncontested champions. Veteran coach Dr. Antonio Morillo will provide the guidance for this young group, but though youthful, this Cub team possesses much maturity and will, through hard work and self-discipline, capture yet another tennis championship.

The 1985 Cub Golf team had a very successful season, finishing first in Del Rey competition and second in C.I.F. Although this years' team lost three valuable members to graduation, they hope to continue this tradition by finishing first in C.I.F. With the leadership of Coach Bill Sanchez, the team has set much of their hopes on the shoulders of seniors Rex Murphy, Pat Lizza, and Robert Develle. Also, junior standout Jon Wiser sophomore Scott Welch, and newcomer Keith Seigney should add support. With a well-balanced crew the Cubs should swing their way to the prestigious Del Rey League title and be contenders for the CIF championship which has eluded the squad for so many years.

INTRAMURALS

Under the direction of Coordinator Mark Caveness and Mr. Dave Arnold, the intramural program of 1985-1986 was very organized and successful. Its diversity of sports gave all students an ample opportunity to participate in lunchtime competition. Featured events included innertube waterpolo, basketball, softball, volleyball, and ultimate frisbee.

by Robert Mansour

Imagine a large room. Now, begin filling it with the following items: an old faded couch, an antique Coke machine, two hula dancers, seven exacto knives, nine rubber erasers, ten pages, a Defense Condition (DefCon) reading, directions to several places in Downtown LA, garbage, more garbage, nomadic editors, a complete, nine-inning baseball game, the Hooters, John Cougar, a giraffe, colored dots, a pay phone, toxic flies, a "no parking" sign, and a partridge in a pear tree. There you have it—the Loyalist Office.

That's right. From the very depths of this potpourri emerges the school's monthly newspaper under the direction of Mr. Mike Bergez. From racing to the Printer, to meeting strenuous deadlines, the Loyalist owes its success to its fine team. Allow us to pay tribute to the leading members of the cast.

Liam "All is Well" Callanan—From the abyss of the Underclassmen Editor rose our Editor-in-Chief. Not only is he a fine hula dancer, but Liam has managed to navigate the waters of producing a fine publication each month. From DefCon 5 to DefCon 1, he has remained calm atop his desk. A man noted for his computer innovations for the Loyalist (i.e. typos, higher expenses), Liam has proudly worn his crown during the Loyalist's 1985-86 school year. His wit will surely be remembered, his editorials treasured, and his typos overlooked. Liam will probably be editor of a major Petaluma publication.

Robert "Tears in my Eyes" Mansour—As Associate Editor of Design, he was mainly responsible for the look of the paper. However, he also held responsibilities for the Feature Section. Initiator of the DefCon System, Robert has also been noted for his famous, comforting quotes like, "Don't worry about it" and "It's all irrelevant." Robert has also developed a relationship with the Loyalist's Printing Shop after his numerous phone calls pleading for deadline extensions. Robert will grow to be a talk-show host and an OPEC consultant.

John "the Pager" Page—He assumed the position of Associate Editor of Production. Pager was chiefly responsible for the assembly line and was always there to race to the Printer. As initiator of the Loyalist Baseball Game, John has also produced several fine News Sections. He was always there till the end, although the end always seemed to get there first. Pager will certainly be a legend in the Loyalist Hall of Fame. John plans to open his own Music Plus chain in the near future.

Tim "Award-Winning-Issue" Byrne—Certainly one of the Loyalist's true pioneers, Tim came up with great ideas and expressed sincere enthusiasm for the Loyalist. From "Trends" to "Teenage Pres-sures" to guest writers, Tim has provided the newspaper with fresh ideas time after time. His typeset material, however, did not always arrive on time. Tim would occasionally threaten to leave the staff, realizing that he had received the "curse" of the News Editor—a job he handled with guts and glory. Tim will be principal of an all-girls school where he shall also teach journalism.

Billy "Hey, Babe" Birney—Also one of the Loyalist's pioneers, Billy often worked with Tim to create ideas and suggestions for the Loyalist. Billy also had some famous quotes like "Hey, Babe, take a look at this" and, of course, the one he saved for Deadline Day, "Hey, Babe, I gotta go!" As News-feature Editor, Billy set some standards and upset some old standards. Who can forget such great like "Searching for Santa"? (Please hold your remarks to yourselves). Billy hopes to be a Creative Consultant for an accounting firm. Thanks, Babe...

John "How Many Pages do I Get?" Campisi—John revolutionized the Sports Section, giving it a whole new look. Insisting on quality photos, John likewise gave his pages that "Campisi-quality" look. The "Sports Quote Book" was a favorite with readers. He also provided readers with articles that did not directly deal with a certain sport. Always on time, John was very reliable. Along with great headline like "And Now They Know How It Feels", John also had famous quotes like "Turn that damn radio down!" John will own his own football team after, of course, selecting a few fine cheerleaders.

Obviously, these six could not have done it all without the fine supporting cast. Merit goes to George Hawley, Photo Editor, for his exceptional photography. George is one of the main reasons the paper looked as good as it did. Always there till the end, George should have his pictures framed, if we ever get them. Also, credit goes to William Salvini, Copy Editor. Without Will, much of the print seen would have never been. Along with excellent articles and News Briefs, William proved himself a valuable asset. Applause for Joe Montes for his dedicated work as Business Manager. Farmer John has offered

Also, special merit should go to our underclassmen staff. Our MVM Award (Most Valuable Modern) goes to Billy Tieman, Underclassmen Editor. Billy is a true classic, and is destined to play a major role with the Loyalist upon his return from Argentina. Billy hopes to be like Liam, Robert, and John Page when he grows up (when-ever that may be). Also, John Huston was one of the integral figures in production. As Production Manager, John was always there directing novices and aiding veterans in producing the paper. Expect to see more of this man in future issues. Also, we would like to thank Cory Bowman for his great assistance with computer frontier. He likes to be called the "Fastest Fingers in the West." Robert Orozco also deserves credit for his constant involvement with the Loyalist. Rob will surely be a Loyola Literary leader. Also, thanks to Rhett Brown and Steve Guttman for their constant help. Finally, to all production staff and writers, too numerous to mention, thanks for everything. Well, Underclassmen, it's your ball—run with it!

The Loyalist

Volume 59

Loyola High School, 1901 Venice Boulevard, Los Angeles, California

1985 1986

Loyalist Greatest Hits, Vol. 59

Like a international airport terminal, the 1985-86 school year was a year of many departures and arrivals (not among them clichés). From the departure of Underclassman Editor extraordinaire Billy Tieman to the sunny shores of Argentina, to the arrival of the computer age at the Loyalist, the fifty ninth volume draws to a close with as many changes on the inside as on the outside.

The numerous successes of the year were complemented by the usual share of journalistic near misses. Archbishop Mahony's interview contrasted with the first staff box, or the famous Trends section compared with the ubiquitous plain-clothed pep squad. Abortion, football flashbacks and even (especially) a deep-rooted assessment of the Loyola education by teachers and students, were some of the topics that received the widespread attention of the Loyola community. Loyalist clippings more than once graced the faculty bulletin-board and also the asphalt of the student parking lot.

Editors also survived debate over the exact nature of their positions ("I'm and idea man, Chuck"), and the exact extent of their involvement in other school functions ("something familiar"), their purpose ("all the news that fits we print") or their responsibilities (or is that liabilities)—"the editor in chief is responsible for everything." "But Brosio drew it," or "perhaps liability insurance for the Loyalist this year, Gordon" all received the undivided attention of the entire staff.

And it is with that same undivided attention that we thank the entire Loyola community for your support and wish your futures to be filled with as much of the same success we enjoyed—and can spare.

Liam Callanan,
Editor-in-Chief

NEWSBRIEFS

compiled by William Salvini

This closes the fifty-ninth consecutive volume of the Loyalist at Loyola High School. The entire staff is proud to have produced the award-winning newspaper more times than the El Camino yearbook. All deadlines were met, and the dates printed at the top of the paper actually coincided with the calendar date (in the Western world).

Perhaps this year's prime achievement was the dawn of the computer age at the Loyalist. The paper experimented, writing on and sending via computers to produce the newspaper. The less expensive method at first caused much anguish and confusion, but once the staff finally caught on (around May 5) the computers proved to be a wise and obvious choice. Special thanks must go to the telecommunications staff: Raul Rufino, Billy Tieman, William Salvini, Cory Bowman, and Liam Callanan. Faculty members who supported and helped the Loyalist go computer include Father Gus Cooper, Mrs. Crean, Ms. Wong, and Sister Marcella. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Tieman spent hours on Billy's modem and telephone to receive and give instructions to Andersen Typographic's patient typesetting staff that includes Mary C., Mary B., and Brian.

Congratulations and thanks should be given to "those who never got their name mentioned": Kevin Campbell, Robert Orozco, Paul Dimieri, Ray Murakami, Scott Davie, and Chris Viola. Among the faculty members and friends involved in production, moral support, business, and advice are Mr. and Mrs. Mike Berger, Mrs. Mary Holleran, Mr. Thomas O'Neill, Mr. Frank Kozakowski, and "no problem" Ed and "about your bill" Carol from Andersen Typographics. Finally, the Loyalist's neighbors deserve a mention for simply bearing with the antics and noise of the editors and staff; they include Father Murphy, Father Brady, the yearbook staff, the Samurai Warrior weightlifters, and John Ciszar. I would like to especially thank Mr. Bill Thomason Thank you, and bye for now.

... I would like to suggest something that we think of less often as extraordinarily valuable and crucial: our potential, what we can be, what we can become. Our potential is what makes us dare to dream, those aspects of ourselves which we know only vaguely and hope to make real. We hold our potential, like seeds, seeds which will need time and care to be realized. And our potential is not of our own making. It is a gift from God.

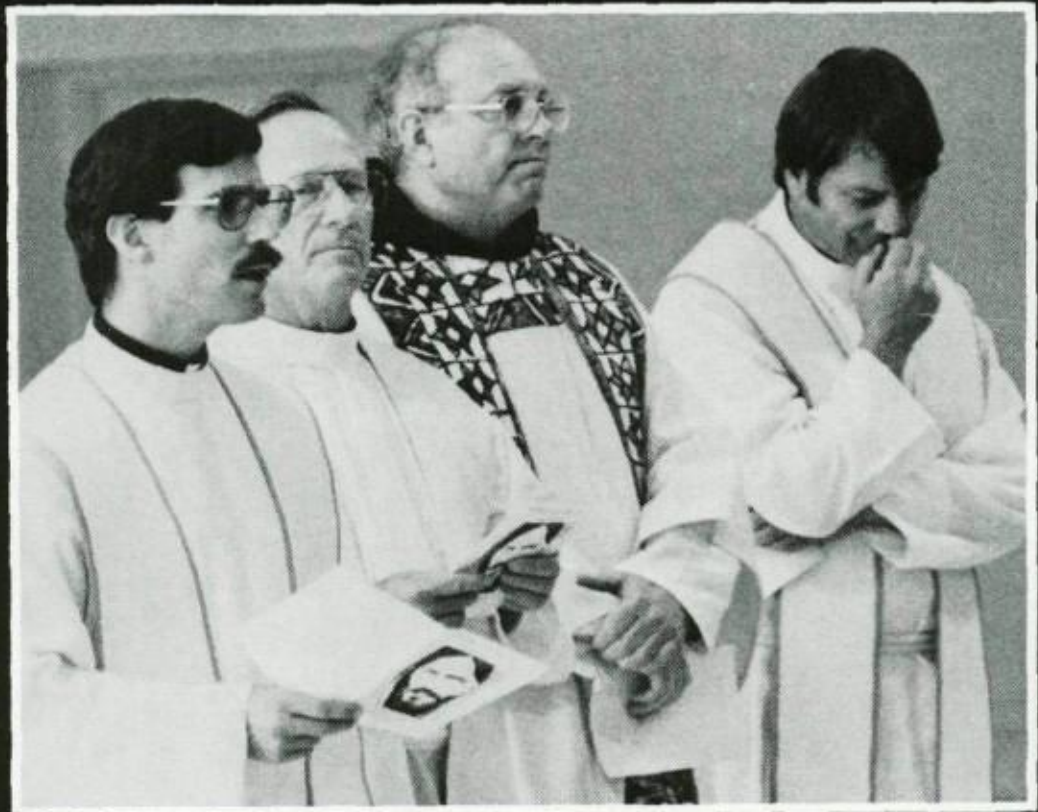

... I am well aware that there are voices which call us to change, but not necessarily to grow. Not all change is growth, just as not all movement is forward.

... How often people, even the most gifted and willing, are suckered in by the illusions of the hawkers of fake happiness, bringing upon themselves a tragically forced allegiance to twisted values. They want acceptance and get laughed at, they want riches and get loneliness, they want power and get insecurity, they want ecstasy from alcohol and drugs and get misery, they want freedom and get another form of paranoid slavery, they want love and get used.

... "Live a life worthy of your calling." I am not talking about being perfect. I have no such desires or expectations on any of us. I am talking about, however, being committed to your own growth, touching your own potential, letting the seed flower.

MINISTRY

Loyola High School is about growth: growth in learning, first of all, as the only thing worse than ignorance is to choose to be ignorant. The school is about growth and friendship as we believe, with St. Paul that none of us lives for himself and none of us dies for himself. And Loyola High School is about growth in the Spirit of Jesus Christ as we believe that the greatest love a person can have is to lay down his life for his friends.

All living things grow. To grow means to live. That which doesn't grow is dead, even though it may still breathe; and there is nothing sadder than things which die before their time.

Unity and peace are the signs of growth. Unity which could be called exterior peace and which shows itself in acceptance of all, respect and reverence for all, in fearlessness and in openness to the future.

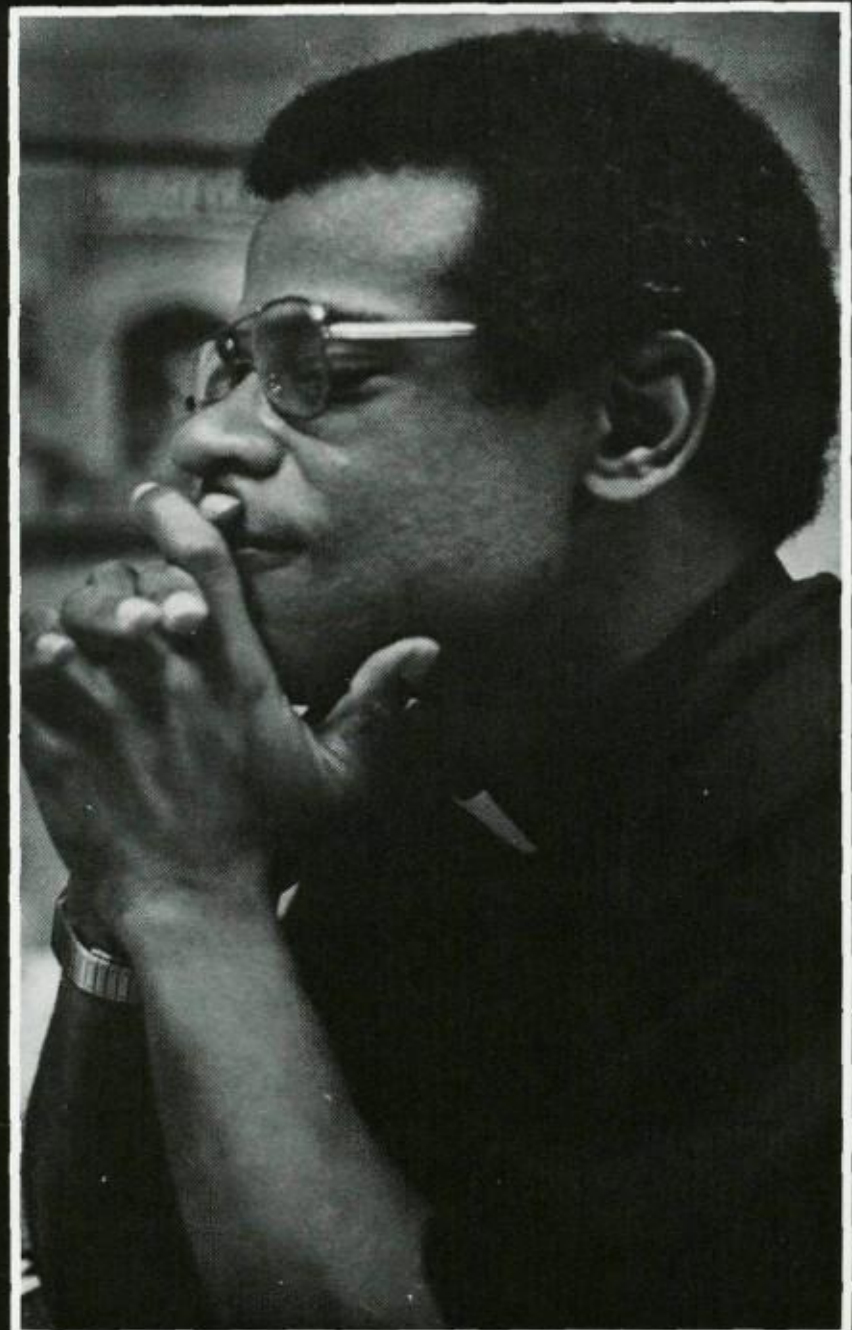

Peace allows us to welcome others into our lives because we accept ourselves, not as finished but as growing.

It is not worthy of you to waste your potential as some do because they are too lazy to become involved in anything, or do nothing because you're too afraid you might fail.

Whatever happens . . . will be the result of precisely what we choose to do - the kind of soil we choose to be - how committed we all are to grow.

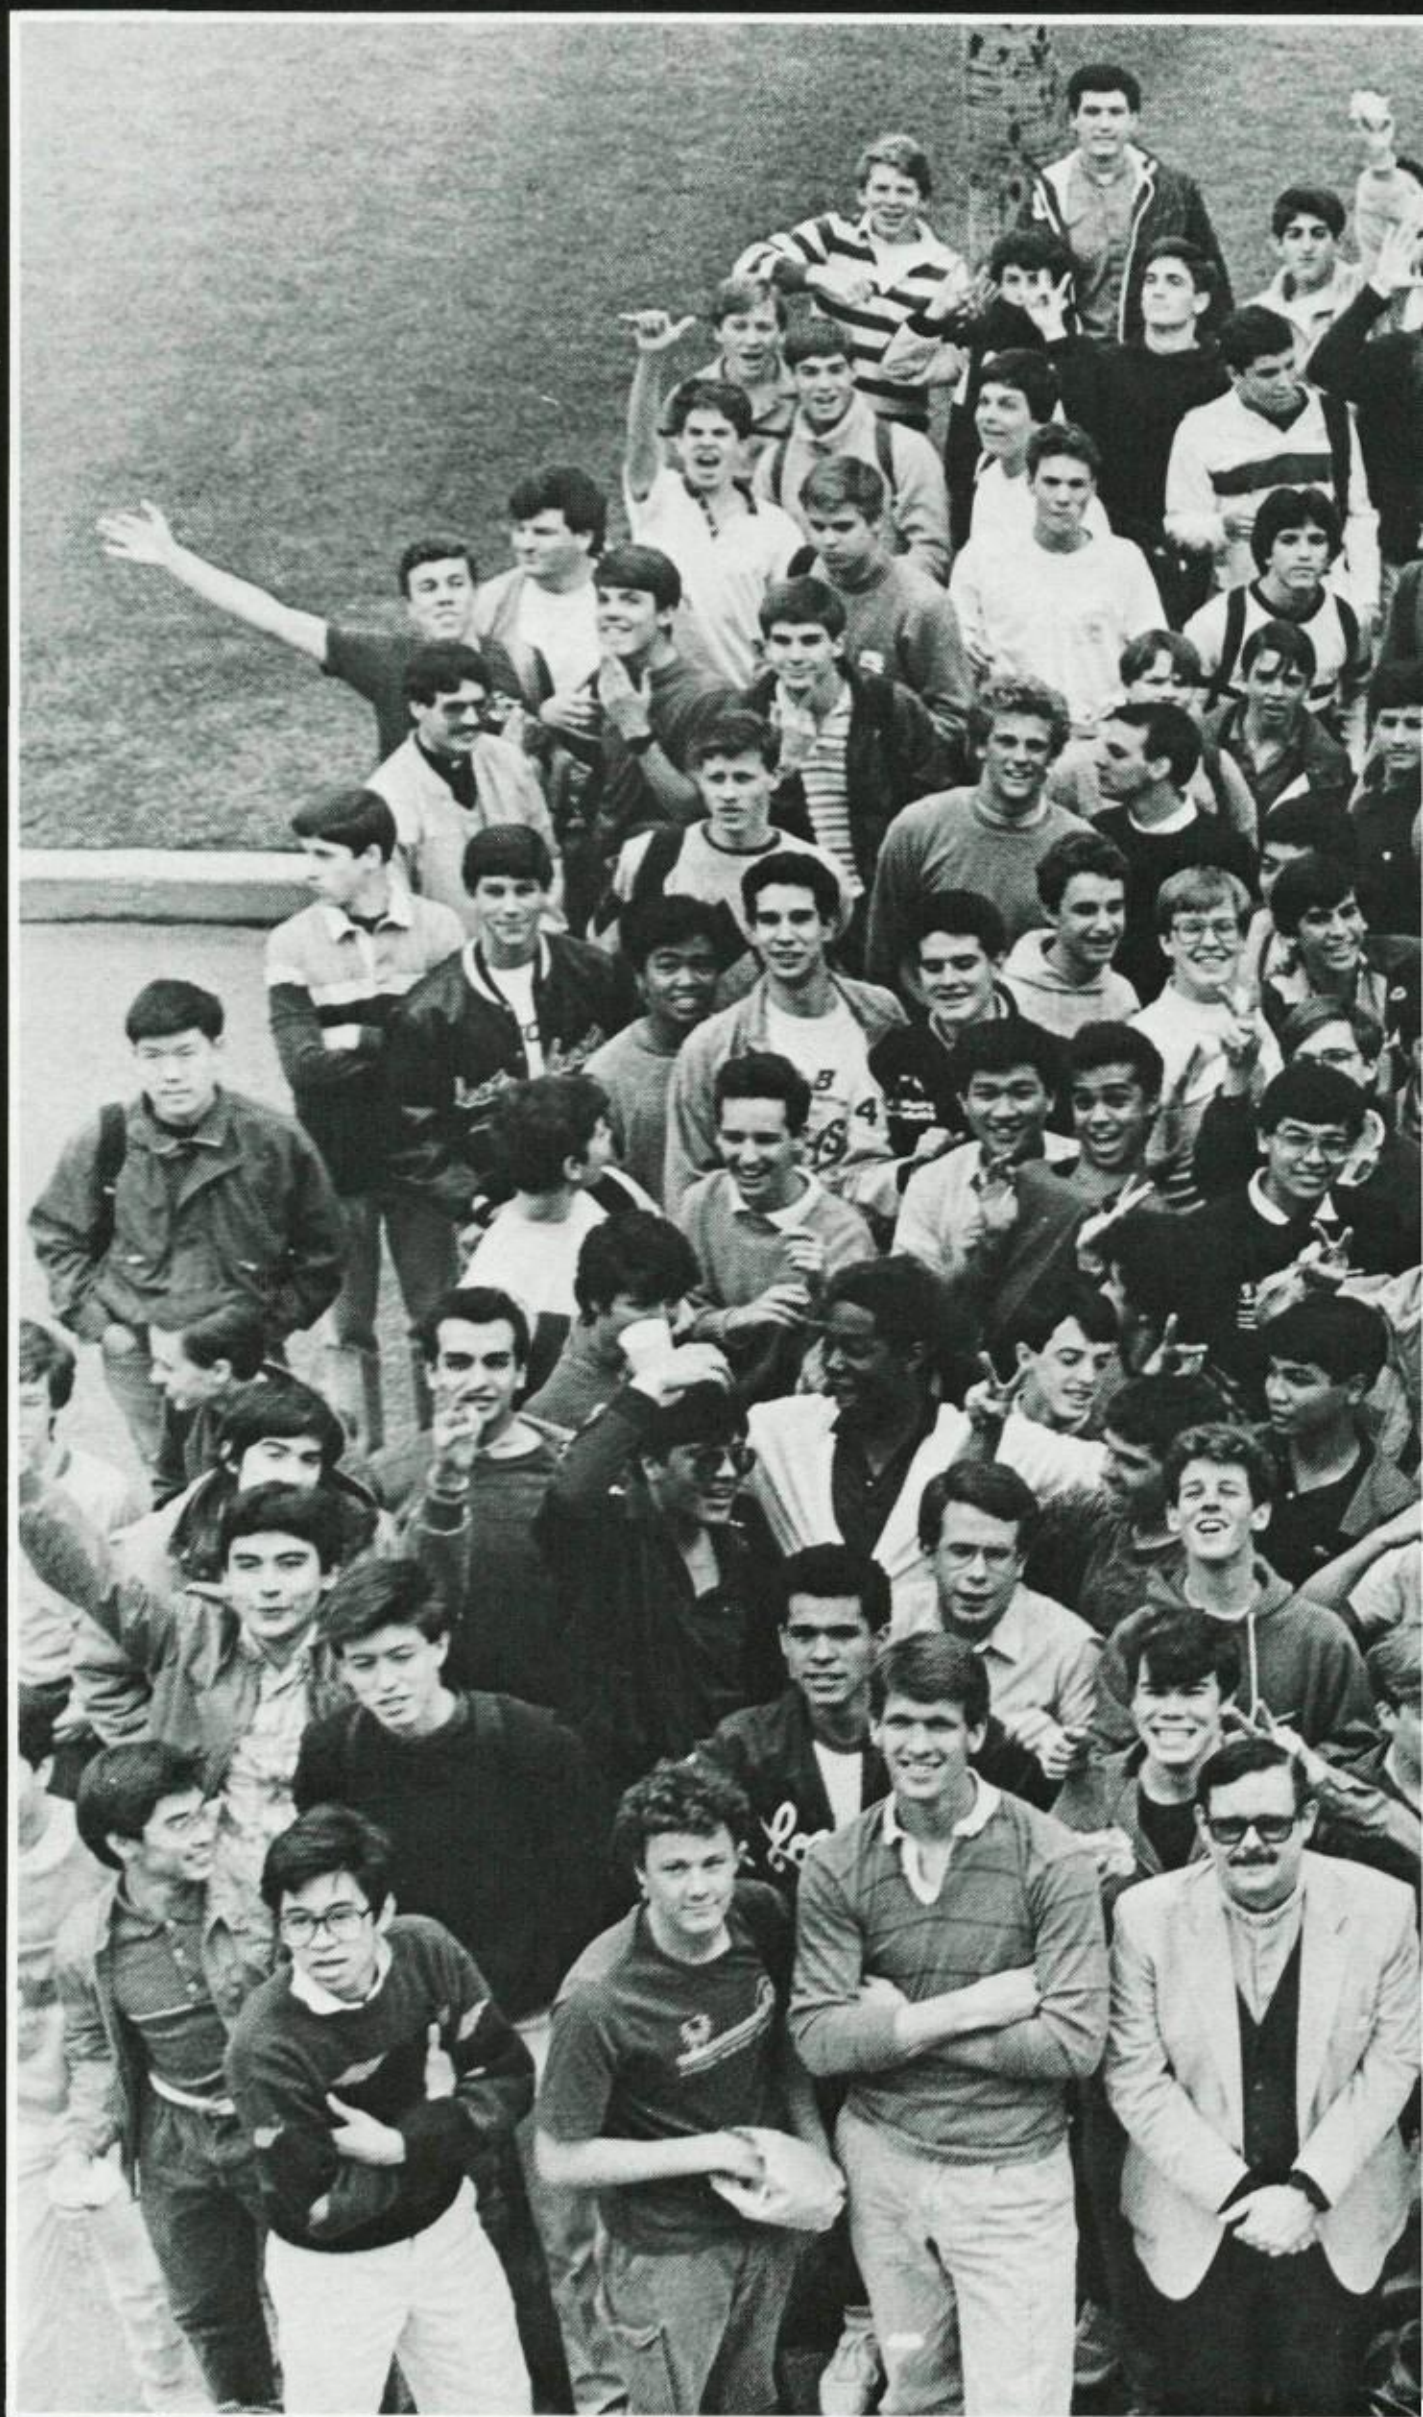

And it is just plain stupid to believe that any victory, any success, any achievement comes without cost.

-Gordon D. Bennett, S.J.
September 13, 1985

CHRISTIAN LIFE COMMUNITIES

To encourage spiritual growth and a sense of social well-being, the Christian Life Communities strive to establish very informal settings and gatherings as a vehicle to stimulate discussions on pertinent moral and social issues. Emphasis is placed on increasing and magnifying a sense of fellowship among students by offering opportunities to gather for liturgies or chances to eat away from campus to gain a feeling of independence and closeness. Finally, CLC members unite to participate in just about any activity, any function, or any outing as a method of strengthening goals and desires, and highlighting the sense of living and participation in a Christian tradition, lifestyle, and community.

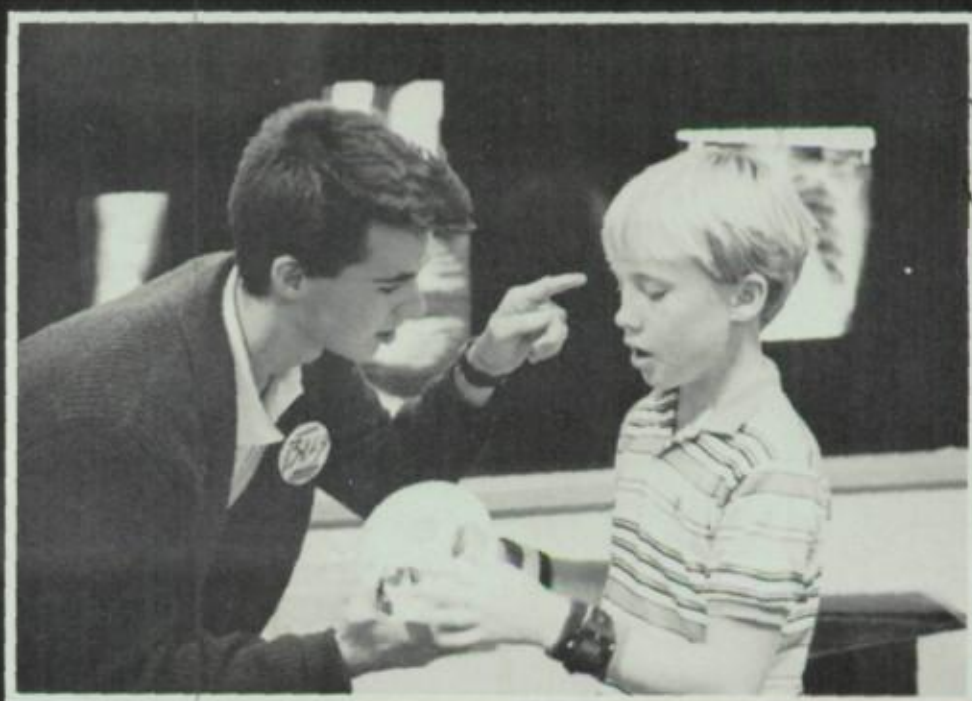

CHRISTIAN ACTION MOVEMENT

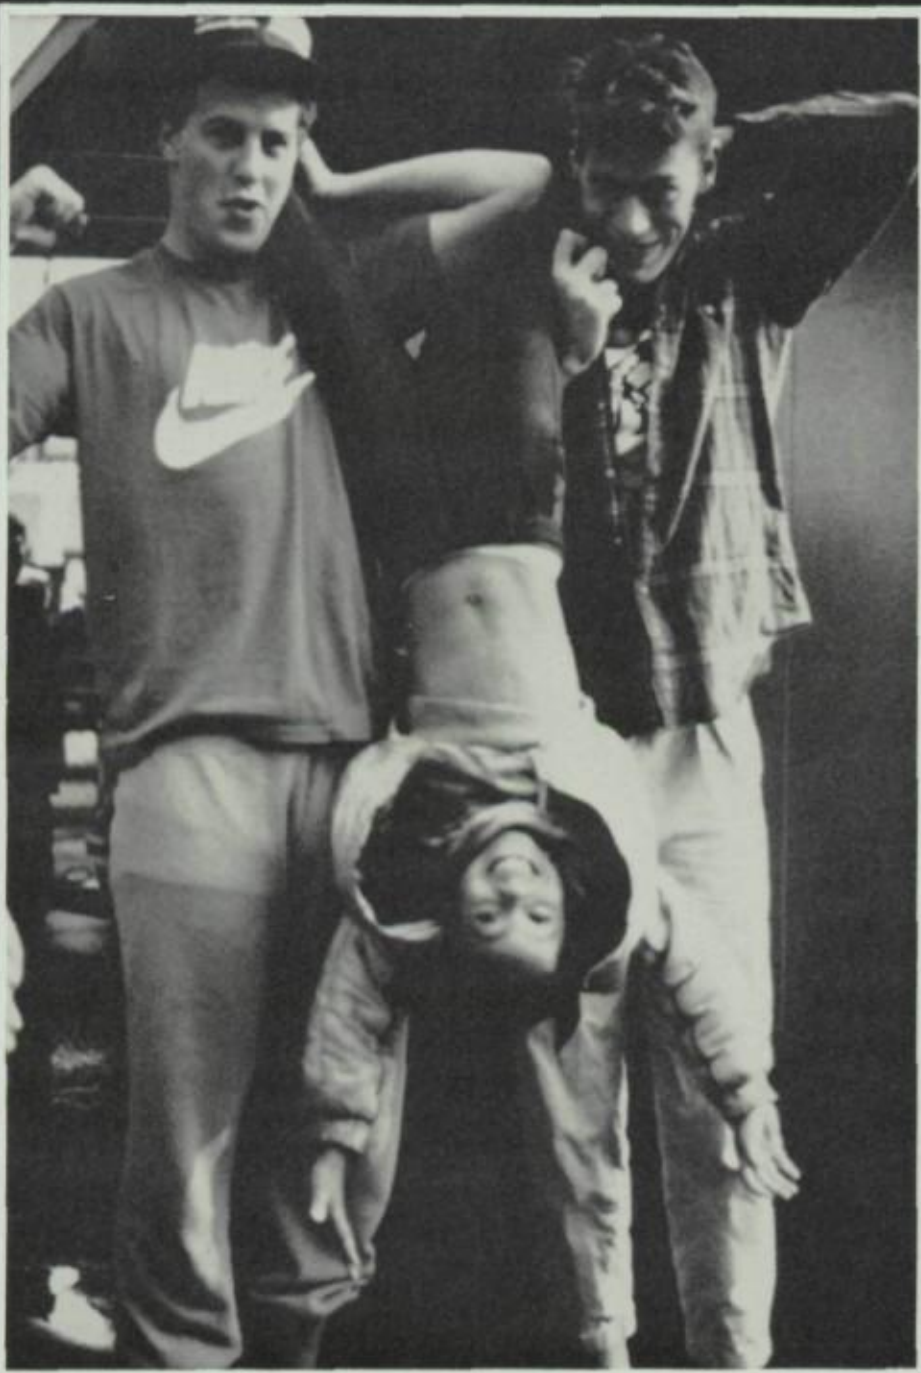

Members of the 1985-1986 CAM Executive Council were: Angel Vallejo, Larry Lemos, Michael Wilson, John Malburg, Bill Birney and many others - thanks so much for a wonderful year!

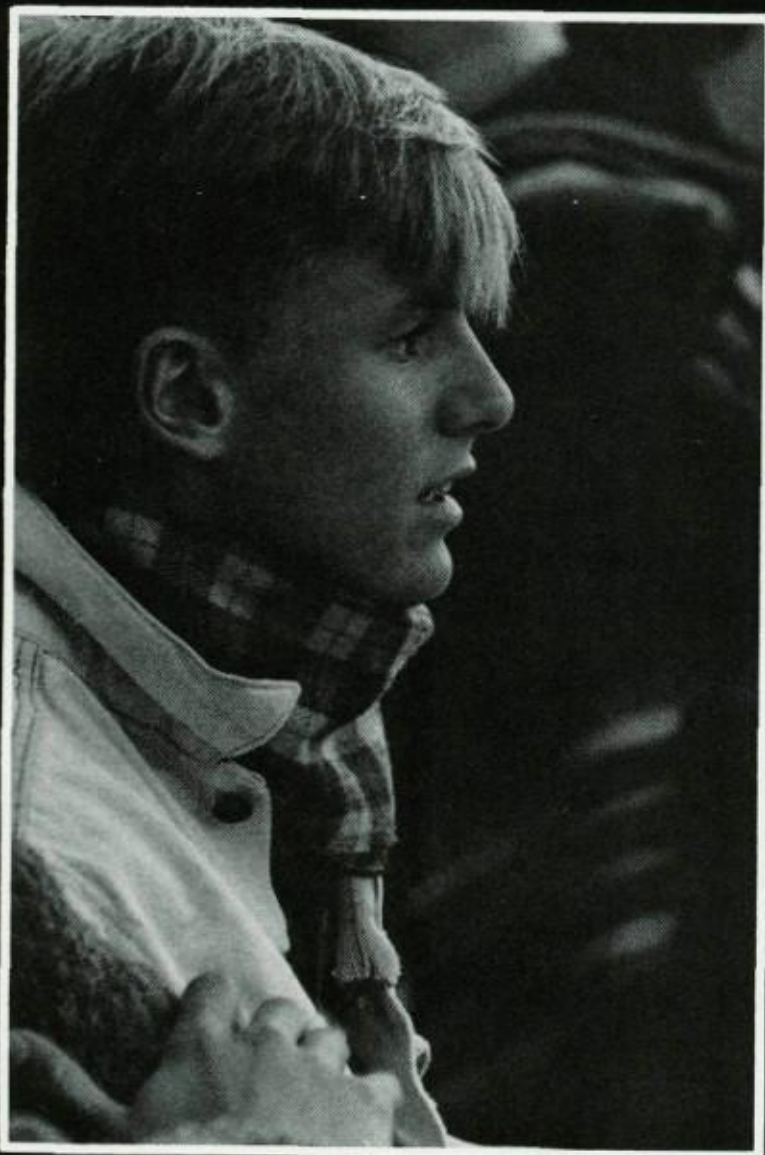

Loyola High School is a place of tradition, a place of growth and maturation, a place of dedication and high achievement; achievement in many different areas and on many different levels, and Loyola is a place of pride and strong spirituality. The Christian Action Movement is about this ambition and development. CAM is a stronghold and foundation that seeks to draw all members of the student body together, to work together, to participate together, to come as a community together for the betterment of those who are less fortunate. CAM gives one the opportunity and incentive, through many fund-raising and gift-giving drives, as well as through occasional trips to a few of the many orphanages in Mexico, to experience the personal satisfaction and pathos that giving of oneself evokes and makes genuine.

SENIOR PROJECT:

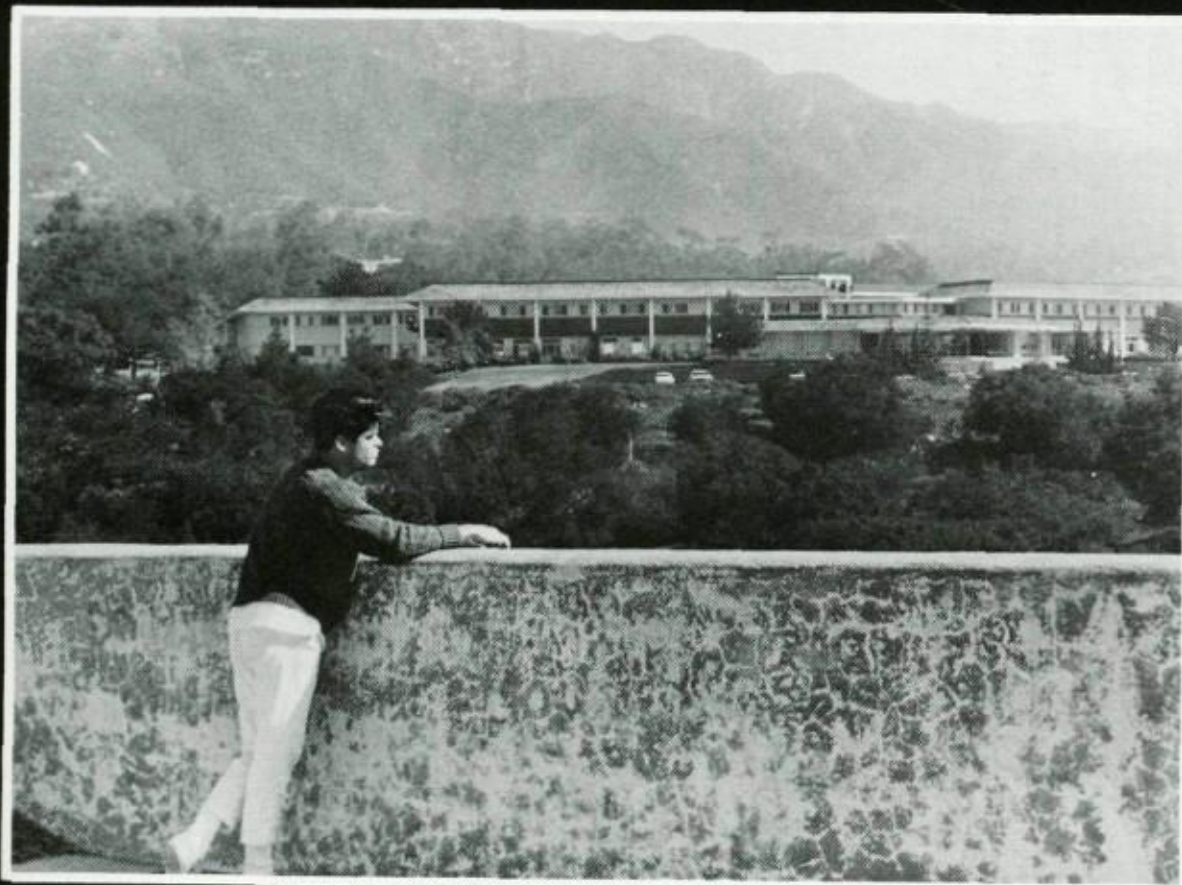

The underlying philosophy of the Senior Project has been one of personal enlightenment and gratification since its initial beginning six years ago. Each senior, after choosing a placement which facilitates his needs, goals, and interests, volunteers approximately six hours each day for a period of three weeks. Through such an experience, seniors hope to gain a much greater insight, or perception, into their own lives by interacting and growing to be an integral part of the lives of others, to work and find their own capacities for service without mention or reward, to feel the need of needing others, and to attain the ability to love and feel attachment, by fostering love and attention to others. Gordon Bennett, S.J., truly captured in words the ideology of the Senior Project, when he states, "It is not only about serving, but it is about being served."

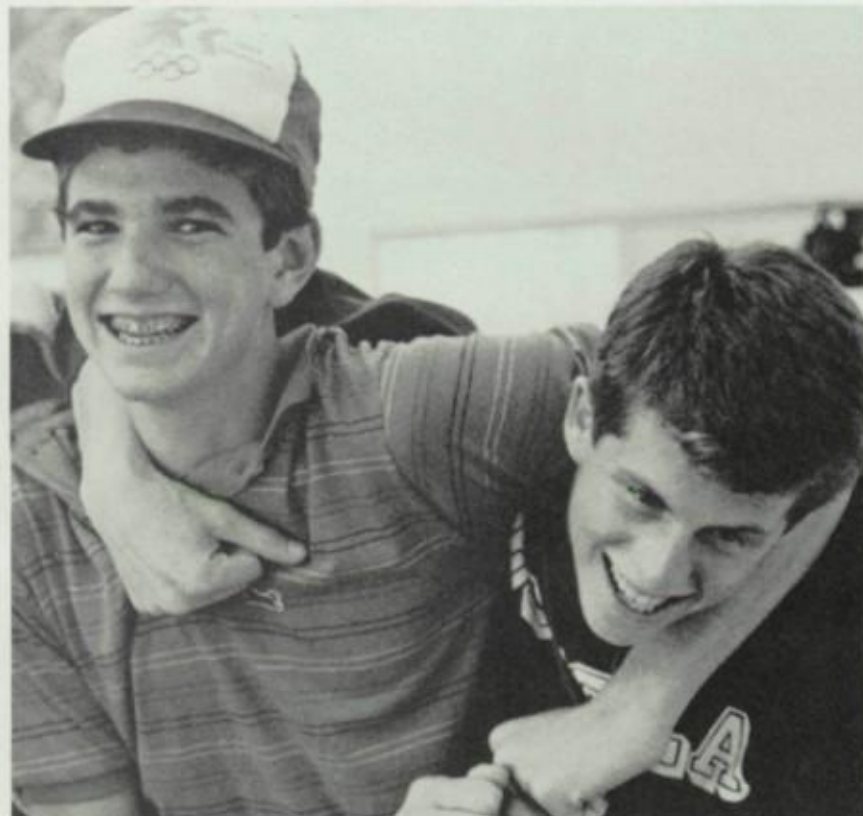

RETREATS

Six times during the course of the school year, under the guidance of Fr. Kevin Leidich, S.J., Loyola's Campus Ministry program offers senior students the opportunity to make a directed retreat - a two day reflective experience designed to help a student take an honest look at his life, to know more clearly how he stands before himself and before his God, and to provide him with some of the tools for the further nurturing of his interior life. The emphasis during the directed retreat is on each student as an individual. Priority is also placed upon time spent in personal conferences with one's retreat director and in private reflection. At the close of the two-day period, the retreatant should desire to communicate more closely with a God who loves him personally, and realize the reign of God within himself.

CLASS OF '86 SHARES ITS FEELINGS AND VIEWS

WHAT DO YOU FEEL WAS THE MOST IMPORTANT ASPECT OF YOUR LOYOLA HIGH SCHOOL EXPERIENCE AND WHY?

The people-everyone from the teachers, to the students, to the maintenance crew. Everyone always seems to be able to take an extra second and help out, no matter what the situation is. Without the people, Loyola would be no different than any other school (except for a blue track).

— Dan Wilson

Of course clean bathrooms made most of my time at Loyola memorable, but I think it's just the atmosphere at Loyola that will stick in my mind. I've never seen a school before that would let the seniors get away with so much and so little at the same time.

— Kevin Kohler

It has to be my friends. Their personalities helped me to shape my personality. We learned about trust from each other. The good things and the bad things we did helped me to decide what I wanted in my life.

— John Page

Probably the incredible opportunities I had to express myself creatively. With all of the various publications, as well as the opportunity presented with pep rallies, etc. I think there were many chances for me to develop one of my talents.

— Steve Balsarini

Activities, especially athletics, made Loyola personal. Loyola offers opportunities for growth; however, only taking advantage of these activities provides growth. It was real and fun, but not . . . whatever

— Hector Villagra

Teachers- The good rapport between my teachers and myself helped place me where I am now- more knowledgeable, more mature, and more understanding.

— George Hawley

I really feel that it is the "community" aspect of Loyola that has made this school so special. Students, teachers, secretaries, and security guards alike are all approachable as friends. This element is really unique to Loyola and allows us to form the strong friendships that we have with so many people.

— Pete Nyquist

WHAT WAS THE MOST MEMORABLE EVENT THAT OCCURRED AT LOYOLA HIGH SCHOOL THIS YEAR?

August "the dogger" Dougherty's chimpanzee mating calls.

— Jack Henry

The fall sports sweep of the Del Rey League stand out above all. It brought much needed excellence back to our sports program. We need to excel in sports even further. Success in sports keeps a strong community.

— Bill Lee

My most memorable event this year was not really an event. It was my Christian yoga class. Through this class, I became more in touch with myself. Few people understand what it means to "find yourself," but I really feel I have begun to do so.

— Steve Charbonnet

The flop of the afterschool pep rally.

— Alfredo Botello

Getting the last of my college applications done. I finished my last one on February 1 and had it in the post office five minutes before closing time.

— Hector Villagra

The Senior Project. It gave me the chance to do something I always wanted to do.

— Frank Morrow

The St. Francis football game. It was their homecoming, but the Loyola fans were more vocal and excited than theirs (band on the track, etc.).

— Steve Balsarini

It's a number of experiences that make a school year unforgettable. I couldn't exactly pinpoint one event, but I was relieved when all my applications were done. I also enjoyed being a show-off at football and basketball games.

— Bryan Gayer

The long vacation we got during Christmas and the Senior Project.

— Bobby Martinez

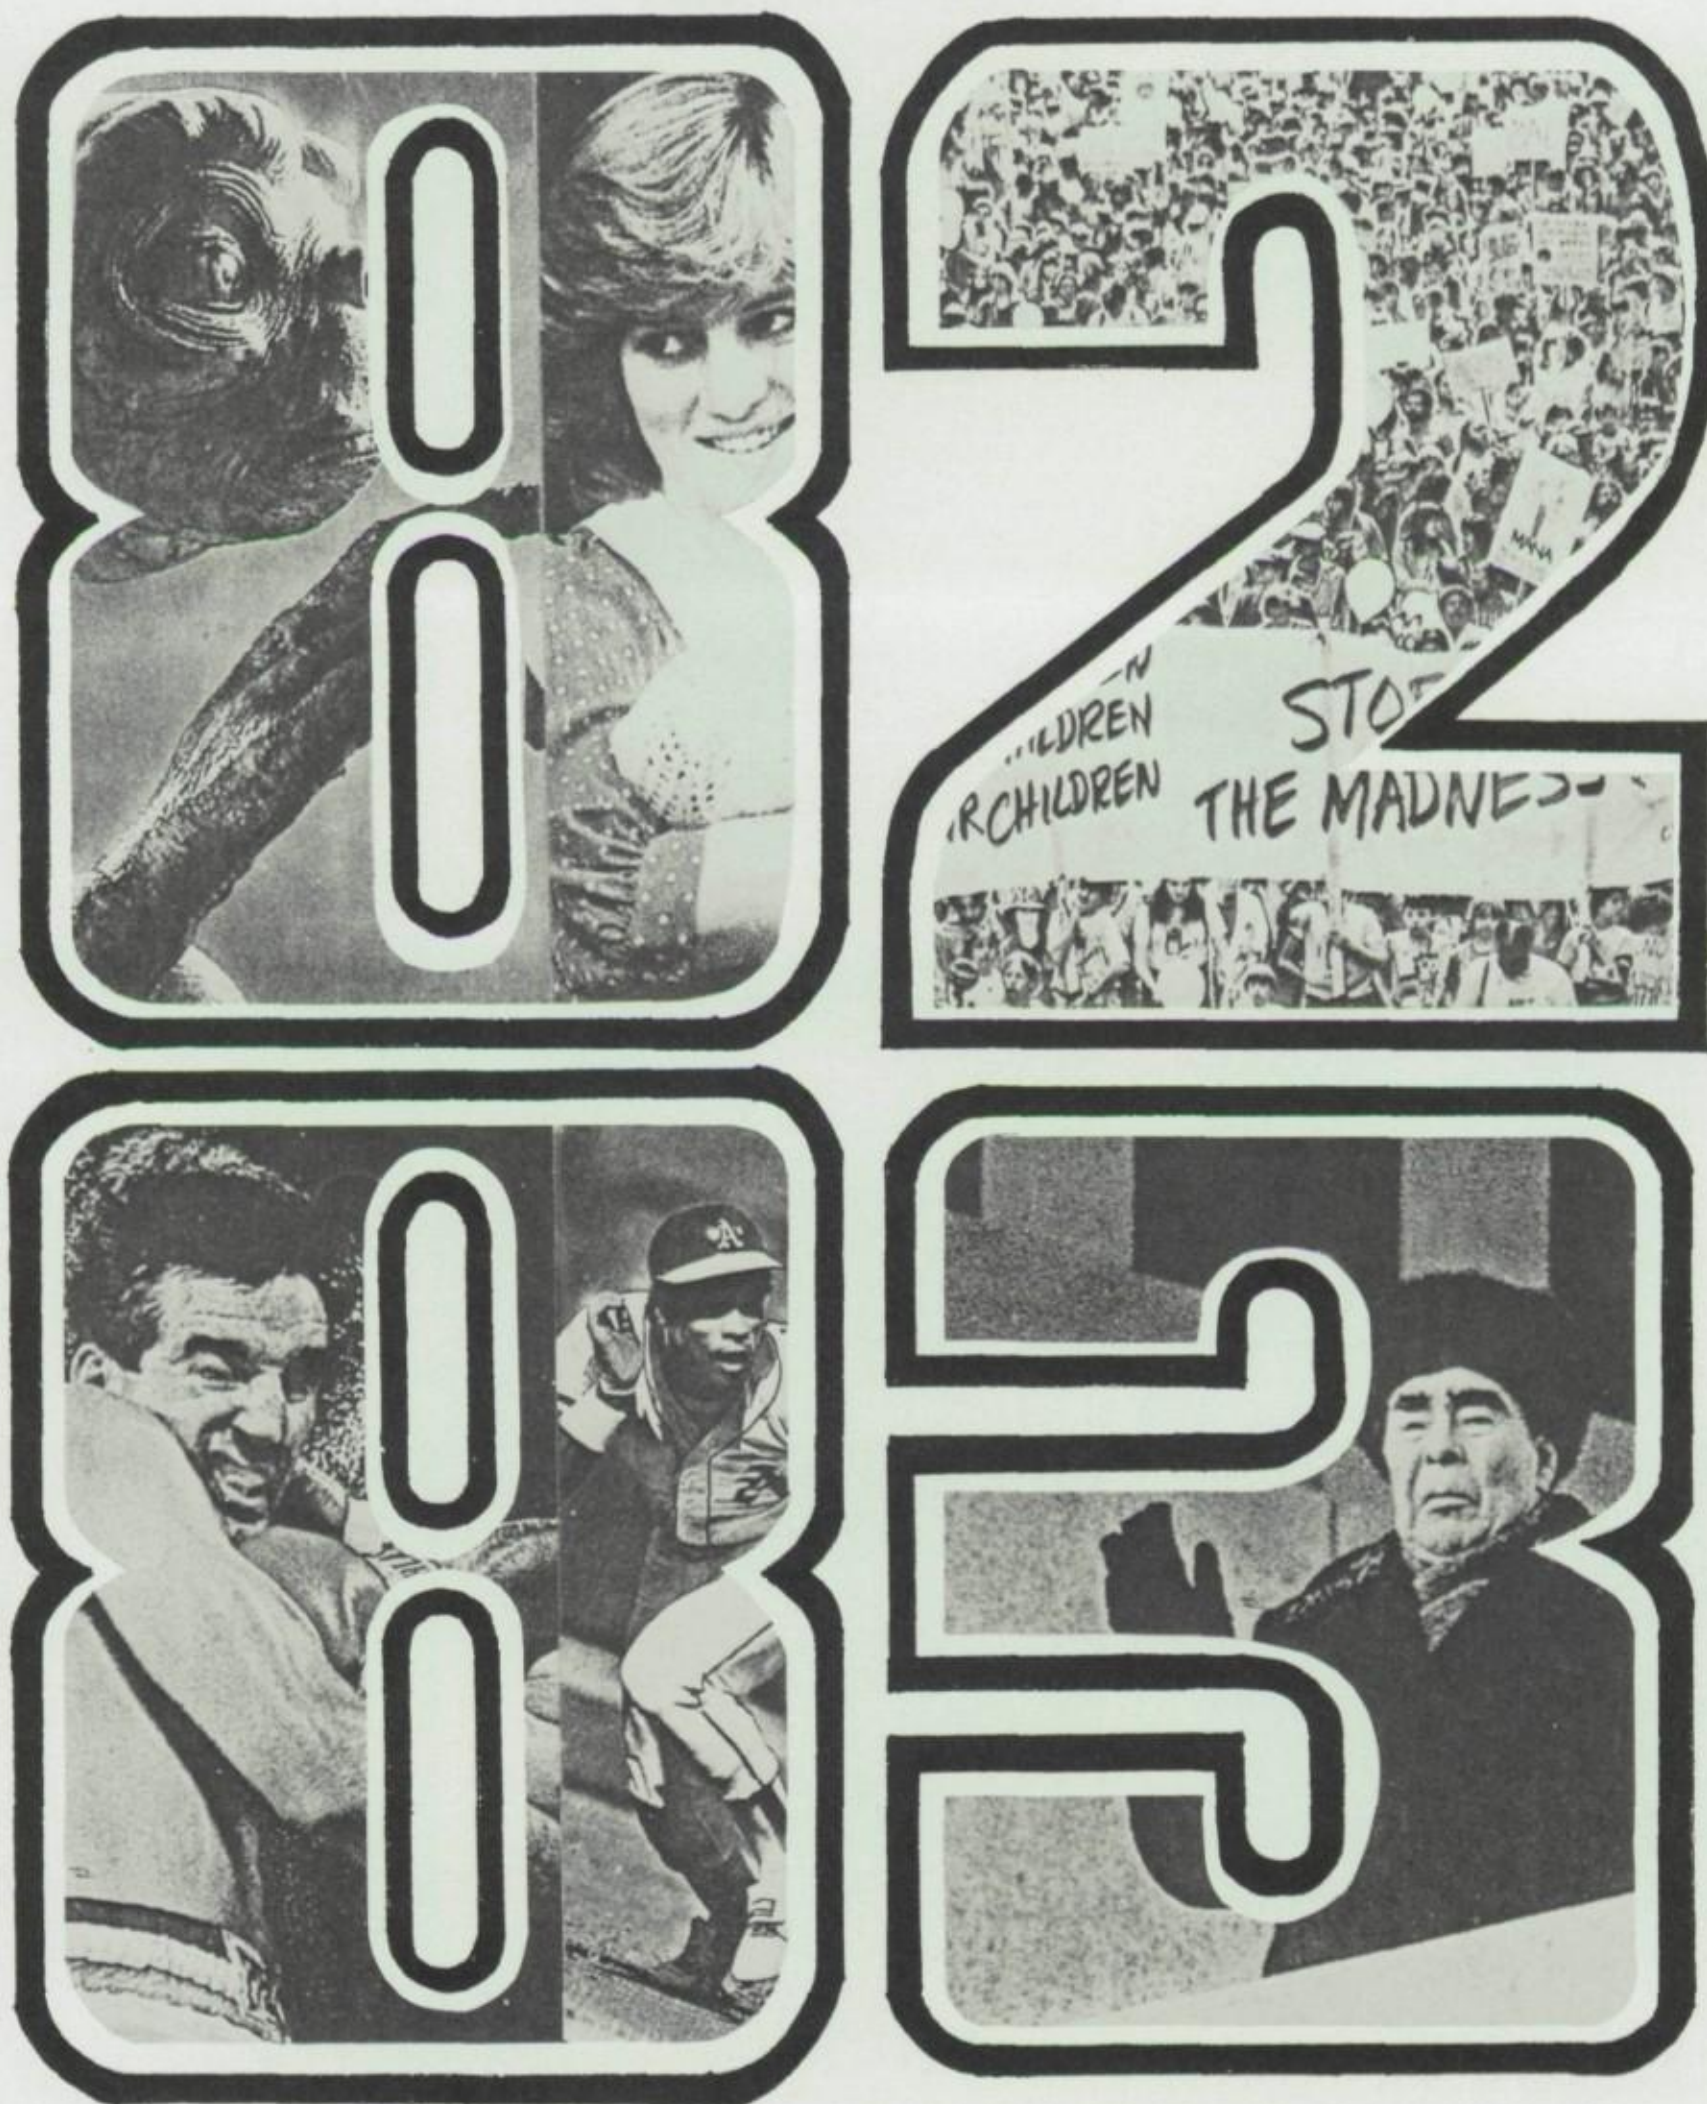

Watching a horse named "Blue Is Beautiful" owned by our very own Dean of Men come out of nowhere to finish second, allowing a couple of friends and a Physics teacher to become independently wealthy.

— Pete Nyquist

Without a doubt, the most important aspect has been the chance to meet, come to know, and grow with people from different areas and backgrounds and, through time, realize that all people share common goals and dreams.

— Christopher Cheleden

FOUR YEARS; A PICTORIAL REVIEW

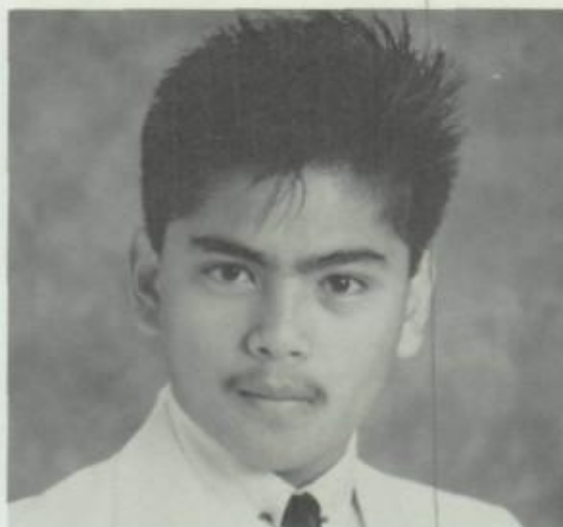

A little creature known as "E.T." starred in a heart-warming movie that grossed over 300 million dollars in just six months. "E.T." shares his life-giving love with Princess Diana of England, who gave birth to her first child. Over 700,000 people gathered in New York's Central Park to protest nuclear arms build-up. Leonid Brezhnev passed away after being at the head of the Kremlin for 18 years. In sports, Rickey Henderson obliterated the base stealing record, finishing with 130. And Gerry Cooney, called "The Great White Hope" by many, lost his Heavyweight title fight against Larry Holmes.

What would we do without all these jerks anyway.
Besides all our friends are here, Don Henley

War is an image that dominated 1983-1985. In the war-torn region of Beirut, violence and fighting continually erupted between Lebanese PLO forces and Israeli troops. In one instance, 253 American troops were killed by a terrorist bombing of the U.S. embassy. A small Caribbean island called Grenada became the target of a lightning quick U.S. military raid to wipe out communist bases stationed there. Fighting in Central America continued between the U.S. backed Contras and the Sandanista regime. Finally, Americans applauded as Sally Ride travelled aboard the Space Shuttle Challenger into orbit, becoming the first female to venture into space.

HOW DO YOU SEE YOURSELF AS A PERSON FIFTEEN YEARS FROM NOW?

I see myself as a complex, multidimensional person. By then I hope to be a successful lawyer with my own firm as well as a part-time freelance writer. Of course, I'll also be spending many days journeying to Vegas (on business, of course) and at the track. In fact, by then I'll surely own a horse or two and maybe even my own stable. Then one day I'll meet a stable girl, fall madly in love, and get married.

— John Czisar

Ideally, I'd like to be married and working at Lucasfilm out of my suburban, Northern California home. I will be an artist, responsible for designing, drafting, and sculpting the multi-legged, forty-eyed creatures which populate future Star Wars films.

— John Brosio

Unwed, underfed, unemployed . . . and loving it.

— Jack Henry

I'm really looking forward to having a couple babies, and then going back to the reservation and becoming one with the earth and my people.

— Dan Wilson

After becoming the single richest human being ever to walk the face of the earth, I plan to buy Germany for use as a summer home, and Lichenstein for use as a guest room. Robin Leach will have a weekly special called "The Lifestyle of Kev." I will have a world-wide TV show called "Kev," which will be on every weeknight. It will be a fun-filled hour of viewing pleasure in which I will talk about me. Every Saturday the "Kev Weekend Special" will come on. This will be a fun-filled hour of viewing pleasure in which famous people will talk about, and praise me.

— Kevin "the Kev" Kohler

I don't know where I'll be fifteen years from now, but give me 20 or 25, and I picture myself behind this big desk in a large oval-shaped room.

— John Malburg

In fifteen years, I would hope that I could be working for my own industrial psychology consulting company. This would involve counseling in stress management and job satisfaction. I would hope that the experiences of the fifteen years will have changed my perceptions as much as four years at Loyola has.

— Christopher Cheleden

HOW DO YOU SEE U.S.-U.S.S.R. RELATIONS CHANGING OVER THE NEXT 10-15 YEARS? IS A CONFRONTATION BETWEEN THE TWO SUPER POWERS INEVITABLE OR JUST A POSSIBILITY?

In the future, I see U.S.-Soviet relations improving to a point of mutual acceptance, if not mutual friendship. I don't think, however, that the Soviet system of government will radically change. I don't foresee a confrontation between the two super powers, but both sides should take every measure to avoid one.

— Steve Balsarini

I believe that the U.S. will conquer and totally squash the USSR, and will finally have total and complete domination of the world, just as God intended.

— Matt Romano

WHY can't we both be equally powerful? I pray that war will never happen. If conventional warfare isn't implemented, the only other option is total annihilation. We have to reduce arms. We have to compromise. We can't be so greedy.

— Alfredo Botello

A "possible confrontation" is a contradiction of terms — there will never be such a confrontation, at least involving the two super powers. As Goepel would say, "the Soviets aren't stupid," and neither are we. But I do see some major conflicts with lesser powers in the Middle East, etc. — but no super power confrontation.

— John Czisar

I really see the possibility of peace between the US and the USSR. Right now the two nations are beginning to agree on little things like cultural exchanges, and I think that it will grow into larger things, like nuclear disarmament.

— Dan Wilson

I feel that over the next few years, great advancements in relations will occur between the two super powers. As long as we can vote candidates into office who are willing to be stern yet know when to compromise, the relations between the US and USSR will become much warmer.

— Steve Charbonnet

Our working relationship with the Soviets will continue to gradually improve, but our policies will never be in perfect harmony. Both nations will eventually realize the futility of nuclear parity, and the worst threat to civilization will become obsolete through disarmament. Minor conflicts over such international "hot spots" as Central America or the Middle East are possible between the two super powers, but no world-ending confrontations will arise . . . I hope.

— Pete Nyquist

Mary Lou Retton stole the hearts of the nation during the 1984 Summer Olympics, winning the women's all-around title with incredible enthusiasm. Mary Decker, on the other hand, had the biggest misfortune of the Games, tripping on the heel of Zola Budd and losing the chance for a gold medal. Geraldine Ferraro became the first female presidential candidate ever, eventually ending up as Walter Mondale's running mate. In one of the largest landslides in history, Ronald Reagan took the oath of office for a second time. A devastating famine ravaged Africa, leaving a sea of starving citizens in its wake. American music artists converged as "USA for Africa" raised hundreds of millions of dollars for famine victims in Africa.

Bob Geldof made an effort to provide for African famine relief by pulling the music industry together in two massive undertakings, "Band-Aid" and "Live-Aid." A tumultuous year in the Phillipines resulted in incumbent leader Ferdinand Marcos stepping down and handing the presidency to the people's choice, Cory Aquino. The worst disaster in NASA's history took place as the Space Shuttle Challenger exploded, killing seven crew members. The leaders of the world's super powers, Ronald Reagan and Mikhail Gorbachev, converged in a Summit meeting to discuss solutions for a more peaceful world. And a black bishop in South Africa struggled in his attempts to end apartheid peacefully.

WHAT DIRECTION DO YOU THINK THE U.S. ECONOMY WILL HEAD IN FOR THE NEXT FIFTEEN YEARS AS WE EMBARK ON OUR OWN CAREERS?

I think that if something is not done to reduce the deficit, we're headed for serious problems- possibly even a depression. Raising taxes is, most likely, inevitable.
— John Malburg

I believe that the U.S. economy will most likely improve tremendously within the next 15 years, providing us the opportunity to establish our own financial security. I furthermore believe that our huge deficit is a solvable problem which will most likely be eradicated by the time we begin our own careers.
— Steve Balsarini

I'm going to be incredibly rich and famous and pay off the federal deficit myself.
— Dan Wilson

The economy will go into another minor recession for a couple of years as a result of budget difficulties. Until a grip on government spending is attained (both on defense and domestically), we are in for tough times. However, the economy will eventually rebound to a flourishing level that will allow all of us to gain financial prosperity.
— Pete Nyquist

North.
— Kevin Kohler

I think that it really depends on what kind of leadership we get over the next fifteen years. I would like to see the economy grow by stressing internal, domestic reform instead of pumping millions of dollars into foreign governments. Although the deficit is a somewhat hazy issue, I think it can be overcome with the proper management, and I hope to see it done even in my time.
— Steve Charbonnett

The federal deficit will most likely continue to fall by the billions in the next fifteen years. Our economy won't be destroyed, but it will have its fair share of problems.
— Bryan Gayer

Fifteen years from now, we will have two recessions like the 1981-82 one, with about that much impact. No deep recession will occur though. Just a slip up. The deficit won't cause the catastrophic problems everybody thinks will happen.
— George Hawley

FINALLY, IF THERE WAS ONE THING THAT YOU COULD WISH FOR IN THE FUTURE WHAT WOULD IT BE? THIS CAN BE ANYTHING THAT YOU HOPE OR STRIVE FOR, OR AN IDEAL THAT YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE FULFILLED.

I would wish that the Class of '86 leaves a lasting mark on Loyola, that we're all happy in whatever we do, and most importantly that we don't lose touch with each other. Though the world these days is fast-paced, high tech, and long distance, there's never an excuse for forgetting your friends. My friends have meant the world to me over these past four years, and letting them drift away after graduation would be the biggest mistake of my life.
— John Cziszar

I would hope that someday people (myself included) would be broad enough of scope to take the time to get to know others beyond the first impression before they label them as _____'s."
— Kevin Kohler

I want to see this generation of young people make a positive impact on society. I want all of us to set good examples for the next generation.
— John Page

I hope that we never have to worry about having money, food, a place to stay. If I had a second wish, it would be that world governments would leave each other alone.
— Bobby Martinez

My one wish for myself as well as all my friends is that we all live up to our full potential as people. Each one of us has so much to offer, I only hope that we don't let our abilities and talents go to waste because of laziness or contentment with what we already have. Let's always strive to make ourselves better.
— Pete Nyquist

I guess I hope that I'll stay in touch with the friends I've made here. Even though we're all heading in different directions, we're still going to be friends.
— Dan Wilson

John F. Kennedy called it a "real" Peace; Richard Nixon called it a peace "with healing in its wings." I hope we can (and I know we must) make these profound dreams our unwavering goals. With this peace comes freedom, and as Sen. Paul Laxalt said, "My independent Basque soul yearns to breathe free!"
— John Malburg

A FEW REFLECTIONS ON THE CLASS OF '86

Fr. Gordon Bennett, S.J.

I will remember the Class of '86 for its unusual success, academically, athletically, personally. They were and are a group of especially close people, drawn even closer because of the many experiences shared.

I will remember the Class of '86 as a humble class, one which took its accomplishments in good measure no matter how significant, even unprecedented, those accomplishments were. That humility extended even to those tense moments when sterner responses were required. This group took its medicine well.

Mostly, I will remember the Class of '86 as a class that was brought together through suffering and loss and pain. This class, more than any other in my experience, realized the preciousness of human life and its fragility. They realized the importance of friendship.

My deep and abiding prayer for this class is that the life each has been given by the Lord, special and unique as it is, may be lived healthily, strongly and worthily — maybe even nobly.

The Class of '86 I will remember with deep affection.

Mr. Tom Gallagher

I have really enjoyed having the opportunity to get to know the Class of 1986. As a group, you are at times extremely serious, yet within a moment, you can shift to a wonderful sense of humor. With this humor, you have consistently brightened my days. I have found you to be confident without arrogance, open, and sensitive to the feelings of others. You have demonstrated a genuine caring for those less fortunate, and you exude kindness and acceptance. I will miss the morning visits, which have started my day, and your agility, which have kept the injuries outside of my door at the 2:30 bell, to a minimum. In short, I will miss these many qualities that this class has in abundance, which have enriched my life.

Mrs. Pat Salvaty

Over the past year the Class of '86 has impressed me with their warmth, creativity and enthusiasm. A genuine caring and concern for others has been demonstrated time and time again. An individual and Loyola pride is evident in the academic atmosphere and total excellence of the Senior Class — this, however, has not eliminated or curbed a general wackiness and zest for life. It is awesome to see so many diverse personalities sharing the same goals and objectives-creating the place and the spirit which is LOYOLA.

Mr. Ed Hearn

When looking back over the last four years at the class of '86, it occurs to me that this class has great balance and great involvement throughout the entire school. It will be a long time before the memories such as Dan O'Neil throwing a touchdown pass, Mike McCracken leading the Cross-Country team to its second straight C.I.F. Championship, Mark Tilson getting a stuff off a fast break, Tim O'Donnell blocking a shot in the shallow end of St. John Bosco's pool to preserve a Water Polo League Championship, Eddie McElroy dominating the hurdles as Loyola pounds another opponent, and Parker Blackman giving a perfect set to Tom Parr who puts it away for a highly probable second straight C.I.F. Volleyball Championship begin to fade.

While the class of '86 has led and achieved athletically, it has also done so on many other fronts. How can one ever forget John Brosio drawing for the Loyalist and his performances in "Blackboard Jungle," Colin Lynch as leader of the greatest rallies this school has had since Father Bennett, S.J. was a student, or Phil Baker's three time failure at winning Student Body President and ending up doing the joke of the day during announcements?

It has been a tremendous four years. One can't begin to recap the many memories. While I'm very proud of your accomplishments, I am more impressed by your heart and your love for one another.

Mr. Jack Gallagher

The Class of '86. My freshman year as well, when we both arrived at Loyola High School. Apprehensive, waiting to prove to Loyola that they made the correct choice. I remember vaguely our first year. Everyone trying to survive and impress. For me, Admissions was a new experience, as I began to get a look at what type of student Loyola wants and attracts. Your freshman class proved to be one of the best Father Bennett has selected. Just look at all your achievements academically and athletically.

You were always competitive, ready to play whenever you stepped on a field, put your best effort forth which usually proved to be way above average. More importantly, after all the classes and competitions, I discovered some very good people. You are trusting, caring, sensitive, and understanding. Your graduation will be very tough on me. I wouldn't mind accepting a diploma and following you right on to your best years ahead. But we'll keep in touch. Don't forget Loyola, because Loyola cannot forget the Class of '86. Good Luck.

Very dear "Mellow Ones,"

I'm writing this early in March, and in composing what I want to say to you, I'm experiencing the first wave of separation from a group of people I enjoy very much. Every year I go through a form of this gentle agony, so one would think after thirty years I'd get used to it. I don't. And every once in a while one gets a class like this one and the separation is even harder. I have a lot of real feeling invested in you guys.

Your class has known a lot of pain. I've cried with you as a group when death passed too close and I've shared the tears of individuals among you when far too much suffering entered your young lives. Never has that been anything but a privilege to bear with you and I've marvelled at your strength, your faith and your boundless trust. In Hebrew thought, sharing salt together marks a friendship. There is much salt in tears and there are many such friends in this class.

You are also the funniest group of people passing through 402 for a long time. You have a devastating wit far beyond your years and you have caused me to lose it many times in your presence. I have literally collapsed at a quick one liner shot from some fast mouth in the back of the room.

I have taught you, I have counseled you, I have directed you, I have prayed with you, I have argued with you, and I have talked with you for hours on end. And in all of this, Dear Ones, you have enclosed me in your gentle goodness. You are a warm and wonderful "mellow" class and yet you are so sharp, so very, very bright. The world is getting such a rich gift in you. I know that gift, I have received it from you already.

I love you my friends, and I am very proud of what you are becoming. You are extremely dear to me and I will miss you because you have carved your names upon my heart. May you day by day grow in the confidence of God's pure positivity within you.

Mr. Victor Hedges

It is truly an honor you bestow upon me by asking me to write my thoughts on the character of the Class of '86.

I say with all honesty that this is the first class in my three years here which has shown me respect, support, not to mention tolerance for my somewhat volatile nature. As it is said in Proverbs 22:1—"A good name is more desirable than great riches, to be esteemed is better than silver or gold."

In the past three years we have both grown up together, going through times of conflict as well as times of peace. I really believe that it is in those times of conflict that we come face to face with our weaknesses. Hopefully, we grow and become more mature, become more in control of our emotions, and grow to be the men that God intended us to be. I feel this spirit is present in the Class of '86. You are patient, not rude, and not easily angered. The seeds of manhood are planted, which will grow in the years to come. God bless you. All my prayers are with you. Thank you for the support.

Mr. Gary Gatfield

We have joked and laughed together, we have teased each other and have also had more serious moments together, we have given birth to many equations and went over many a solution. You have added a new dimension to the term "intellectual curiosity." You have taken many tests and I have "eventually" corrected them. Although it is the dream of any educator that you retain the content of the course in some capacity, I hope you will include in your memories the intangibles of kindness and compassion, understanding and encouragement, trust and joy, for these are the true gifts of friendship. May the gifts that have blessed the past be with you in the future. Good luck "Class of '86."

Mr. Daryl McAllister

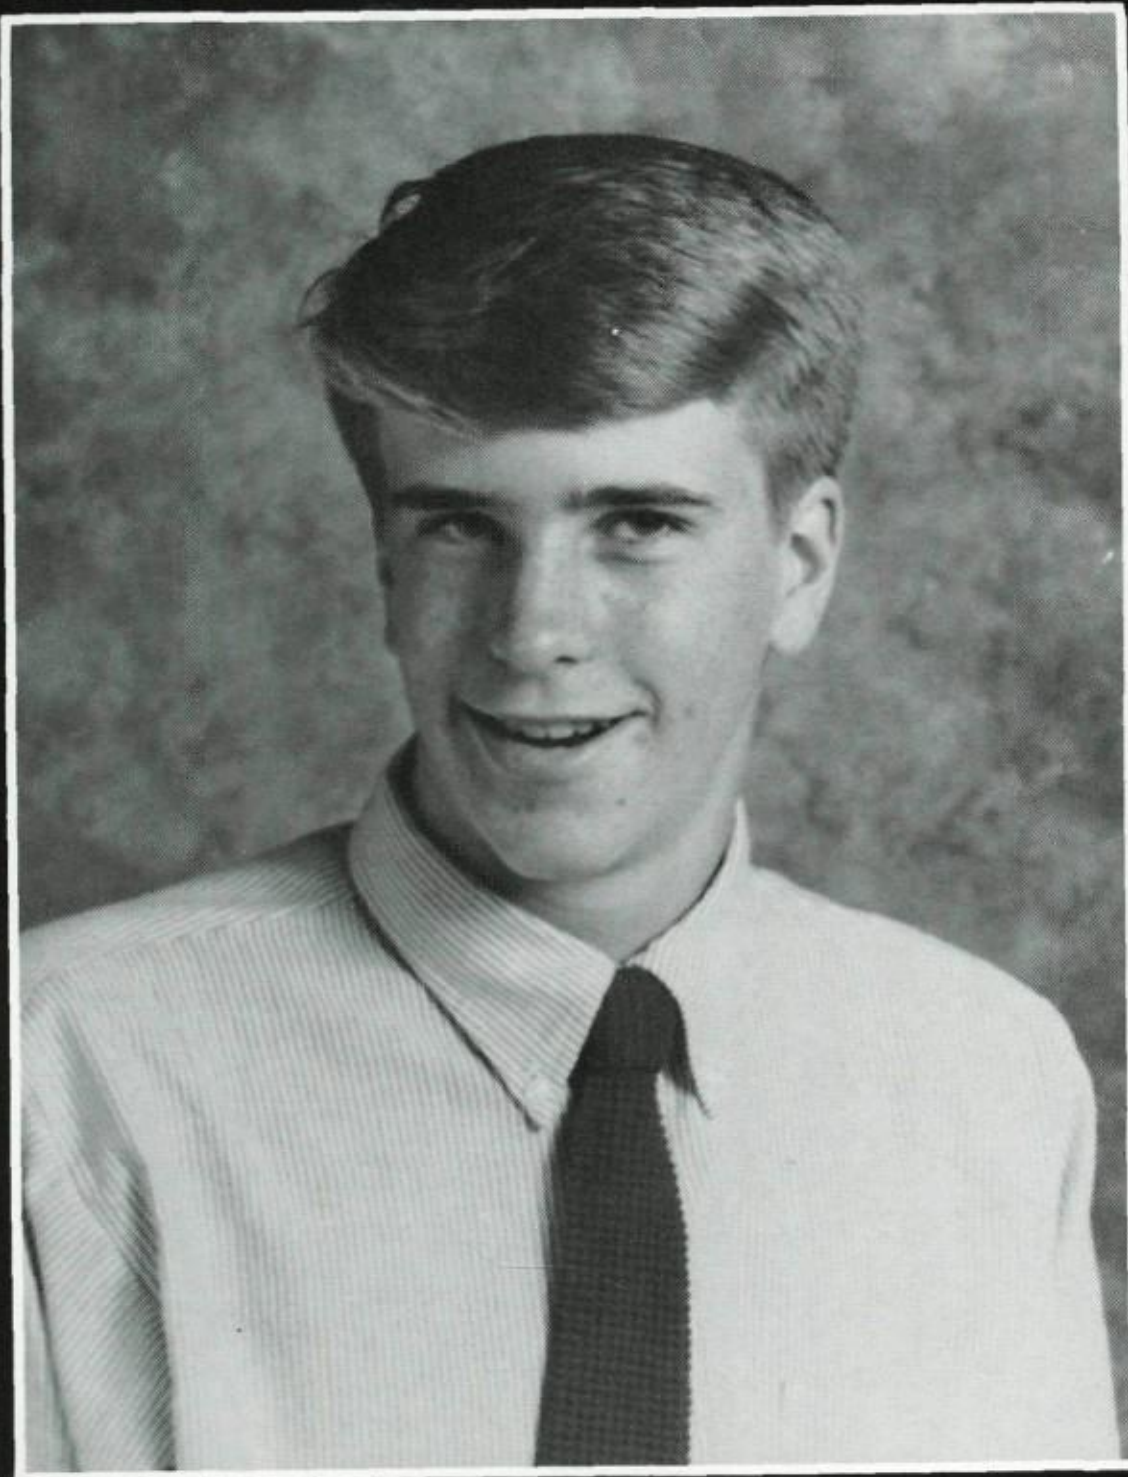

When I arrived here at Loyola, you were just mere freshmen. It has been an amazing three years. You are now the ultimate Senior class. You will reach your destinies and goals in life. Cubs of Loyola High School always do. All of you should take satisfaction in knowing that you helped make this year of '86 better than ever. Thanks for the good times.

Mr. Tom Goepel

Gratitude comes to mind when I think of the people and the graduating Class of 1986. Thanks for learning-and making me learn. Thanks for caring-and making me care. Thanks for laughing-and making me laugh. Thanks for stretching-and making me stretch. Thanks for listening-and making me listen. Thanks for sharing-and making me share. Thanks for loving-and making me love. It was always a pleasure and a privilege to have you in my classes-people like you keep me in education!

The graduating Class of 1986 would like to thank all the people who have made the past four years so memorable. It is your love, your caring, your generosity, which has enabled us to struggle through the hard times as well as thoroughly enjoying the good times. Your impact will remain as we set out to experience LIFE. Thanks.

We, the editors of the 1986 El Camino, would like to graciously extend our deepest thanks and appreciation to all those who contributed to the completion of this yearbook.

Thanks go to Simon Dwyre at Edwards Photography, Yari Photography, Gil Questad at the Jostens Plant, Paul Collins, our helpful Jostens representative, and Mr. Art Watkin and Mr. Dick Roodzant of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Special thanks to all the moderators and coaches who patiently provided us with needed information. Also, we would like to thank Frank Kozakowski and Mrs. Pat Salvaty (a truly wonderful gal) for all of their patience and support.

We would like to express our gratitude to Mr. Vince McNally for providing our varsity football section photographs, Miss Wong for helping to creatively expand the thematic elements of the senior section, Mr. Hearn for patiently providing the needed photo announcements, and Dr. Morillo and Fr. Leidich for taking needed pictures.

The Jesuit hierarchy of Loyola cannot go unappreciated. We are deeply indebted specifically to Fr. Cahalan, Fr. Brady, Fr. Murphy, and Mr. Auther for all of their continual assistance. Special thanks are in order for Mr. Robert Cheleden for developing crucial pictures for this edition. The editors would also like to personally thank Mr. Trevor Denman for his invigorating stretch calls and the 2-for-1 Pizza Co. for the late night energy needed to complete this project.

The sprightly, witty, buoyant Mr. Tom O'Neill deserves our greatest thanks. Mr. O' possesses a rare gift, a gift which he unselfishly shared with us during the long hours in the Boarders' Quarters. That gift was the ability to exploit our strengths, explore our creativity, and expand our horizons. For the dedication, warmth, friendship and love of Mr. Tom O'Neill, we owe a debt that can never be repaid.

TOM, YOU'RE A LOVE GOD!
